The Country's O. K.
Nell Brinkley's Sound Advice.
"I Might Be Worse Off."
Ungrateful Monarchies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Copyright, 1925.

When your friend asks, "What do you think about fundamental business conditions?" vary the monotony with some facts. Mr. Hoover supplies these:

Five years ago wages were 99 per cent above the rate before the war. Last year they were 120 per cent above the per-war level. Wholesale prices of goods that were 126 per cent above per-ward prices in 1920 have fallen to 50 per cent above. In other words, wages are 128 per cent higher, wholesale prices of goods only 50 per cent higher.

We have about all the money there is, business is good. High finance is the most powerful influence in the country, which means that for awhile at least things will boom, railroads and other corporations will make big profits. Those profits leak out from the big pockets into the little pockets.

On the whole, if we in America don't spill things for ourselves there doesn't seem to be anything to spoil them for us.

The one big but, however, is this question: How high are retail prices going? Wages are up 128 per cent, and wholesale costs of supplies up only 50 per cent, and so we ought to be well off. But how much does it cost to distribute the whole thing?

There's our trouble—expensive distribution.

Nell Brinkley tells the American girl that love alone should be a lipstick, rouge box, dark pencil for the eyebrows, her make-up generally.

Cupid lends a color to the cheek, brightness to the eye, that cannot be bought in any drug store.

Of all beauty the greatest, most perfect, is the beauty of health and goodness, good spirit, good morals, above all.

Let Cupid touch up your face, with his wonderful paint box of love and devotion, and you will not miss the lipstick, the rouge or the darkening for eyebrows or eyelashes.

A girl might paint and powder and "touch up" to the crack of doom. And she would only be a painted and powdered girl.

The girl in whose face a young man sees honest affection, loyalty and true love, possesses a beauty that lasts, wins, and is worth while.

There is no other beauty that amounts to anything in the opinion of a sensible young man.

Nathan Williams, a machine gun captain in the war, was praised for his courage under fire. He deserves a million times more praise, for his courage since the war.

For six years he has gone "through hell," as Senator Capper's paper puts it, on a hospital cot.

His bones were shattered by machine gun bullets, and bayonet wounds for he lived up to the motto of the fighting gunner: "A gunner never leaves his gun until he is ready for the grave."

Three Cases of Smallpox Develop During Week-end Among Children in Seventh and Eighth Grade.

Fearing spread of smallpox among children of the seventh and eighth grades of the Sixth street school building as a result of the development of three cases of the disease over the week-end, City Health Commissioner John A. Fraser today ordered all pupils of the two grades who had not been vaccinated to be dismissed from further classes.

Complying with the order, Principal A. C. Moore sent 12 boys and girls home, including only those who had not been vaccinated. Those, also, who had had smallpox in recent years were permitted to remain.

Two cases were reported among the seventh grade children and one in the eighth, the youngsters coming from a Wilson family in John street, a Tucker family in Drury lane and a Seacrist family in West Ninth street.

FRED SEBRING, AGED 56, DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

Retired Pottery Plant Owner Stricken in His Home.

REALTY OPERATOR

Leaves Widow and Two Daughters; Funeral Plans in Abeyance.

Fred Sebring, 56, former resident of East Liverpool, and until a few years ago head of the Saxon China company, Sebring, died suddenly in his home in Sebring Sunday morning, following an attack of heart disease.

Mr. Sebring, who has been engaged in real estate operations in Florida and Sebring, since disposing of his pottery interests, had just returned from Florida, where he had been visiting. He was in his home about an hour when he collapsed and died before a physician could be summoned.

He, with his brothers, launched their pottery manufacturing business in 1895 in a plant which occupied the site of the Peter Milliron building at the corner of Second and Market streets, the plant being operated under the name of the Sebring China company.

Managed E. Palestine Pottery.

The company disposed of their East Liverpool holdings in 1900 when the first of the new plants at Sebring was erected. Fred Sebring went to East Palestine where he managed the Ohio China company's plant until about 1903 and 1904 when he moved to Sebring.

He was connected with the Saxon China company, which sold its interests to the French China company in 1917. He became interested in real-estate, maintaining his home in Sebring.

Mr. Sebring was a member of the Sebring lodge, Knights of Pythias, and was a charter member of the Sebring Rotary club.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Alliance, and Mrs. David McCalmont, of Sebring. Four brothers, C. H., George, E. H., and Frank Sebring, all of Sebring, and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Barclay, also of Sebring, and Mrs. Eva Norris, Pittsburgh, also survive.

Funeral arrangements are being held in abeyance, pending the return of three brothers, who have been spending the winter in Florida.

MISS BEATRICE MACHIN, 18, KNOCKED DOWN ON DARK STREET BY MAN

Unidentified Man Sinks Teeth Into Hand of Elmer Merchant Who Answers Victim's Appeal for Help.

STRANGER FLEES AFTER TUSSLE

Police Investigate Assault Which Occurs at Night as Girl is on Way to Ninth Street Home.

Police today were searching for an unidentified slugger, who is alleged to have attacked Miss Beatrice Machin, 18, pottery worker, near the West Ninth street Church of God, as she was on her way to her home at 10 o'clock Friday evening. The girl was knocked to the ground, but unharmed she ran in the direction of her home, only about two squares away.

Finds Girl's Assailant.

Girl, bordering on hysteria, after the attack, met Elmer Merchant, of Moore street, Y. & O. railroad freight agent, as she passed a confectionery on her way home. Answering her appeal for help, Merchant hurried to the scene of the slugging.

Merchant found the slugger hiding back of a barn in an alley leading off West Ninth street. He grasped him by the arm, intending to turn him over to the police.

The stranger resisted Merchant. In the tussle to free himself the slugger bit his captor on the hand. Merchant was forced to release his grip and the stranger fled down the dark alley in the direction of the Enterprise laundry, West Eighth street, and soon disappeared.

Police Search for Suspect.

Police were notified and Patrolman Lister and Turnkey William Cline responded. A search of the district was made, but no trace of the slugger could be found.

Miss Machin was not injured although she was in a nervous condition, due to fright.

Merchant believes he would be able to recognize the slugger. He was shabbily dressed, according to Merchant.

NO TRUTH IN REPORT POPE WILL LEAVE VATICAN; FOUR NEW CARDINALS NAMED

Three Italian Prelates and Successor to St. Patrick in Irish See of Armgh are Honored.

ROME, Dec. 14.—Pope Pius let it be known today that there is no truth in recent persistent reports that he is about to go outside the vatican enclosure.

The Holy Father made this declaration in the allocution which he delivered in connection with announcement of the creation of four new cardinals.

That he has not abandoned, and seems unlikely to abandon, the policy prevailing since 1870, whereby the pope imposes imprisonment on himself, was made clear when the pontiff deplored conditions which he said still compel him to remain within the vatican.

This assertion came while the pope was discussing the situation in Italy. He expressed pleasure for all that has been done for the church and for religion in recent years, adding significantly "although we have been repaid only in part for damages sustained in the past."

Four prelates—three of them Italians, the fourth, the successor to St. Patrick in the Irish see of Armagh—were advanced to the cardinalate at a secret consistory.

The ceremonies were carried out in privacy in the consistorial hall. They were attended by solemn and color-

Child Run Down By T. R. Cheney Auto On Dresden Avenue

An unidentified girl, about five years of age, said to reside on the Campground road, suffered minor injuries at 6 o'clock Saturday night when struck by an automobile driven by T. R. Cheney, proprietor of a Peach alley auto top establishment, while crossing Dresden avenue.

The child, according to Cheney, stepped from behind a parked machine directly in the path of his car. He swerved the machine toward the curb in an attempt to avert the accident but the child was struck by one fender. The girl was placed in the automobile and taken to the office of Dr. W. N. Bailey and later removed home. She sustained a scalp laceration and a slight injury to her right leg.

COMPLETION OF U. S. PROSECUTION OF WAR FRAUD CASES IS IN SIGHT

By July 1, Attorney General Sargent Hopes to Clear Dockets and Abolish Section.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Completion of the government's prosecution of war frauds cases is at last in sight, nearly eight years after the end of the war, it was announced today.

By July 1, Attorney General Sargent hopes to have all claims and actions of the government against private business in such a condition that the war frauds section of the department of justice may be abolished.

A geenral campaign to clear court dockets and the war frauds section of the bulk of pending cases in the next six months has been started.

While a number of important suits cannot be adjusted before the end of the fiscal year, it will be possible to consolidate the war frauds section with a permanent division of the department of justice and administer the work at a great saving to the government.

On Sargent's recommendation the new budget, just submitted to congress, carries an appropriation of $250,000 for war frauds appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1927, compared with $1,000,000 appropriated for the present year.

"The probable consolidation and reduced appropriation does not mean war frauds prosecutions will cease until all pending cases have been set-

Hiding a rash wont heal it

Attempts to conceal complexion blemishes usually fail, and only serve to draw attention to the defects.

Underneath most unattractive skins is a clear, pleasing complexion—all that is needed is the proper treatment! It is surprising how often a brief use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap will clear away blotches, redness and roughness and give the skin its natural freshness and charm.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"How are you this morning, dear? . . . . Did you sleep well?. . . . . I have a 'crick' or something in my neck. Must have been in a draft or something. . . . . I have some news for you. I opened an account for you at the Central City National. I'll bring you a checkbook when I come home, or sent it out this morning, if you wish to go shopping. All that I ask is that you fill out the check stubs so that you'll always know how much you have on deposit and so forth. And don't give anybody a signed check with the amount left blank. . . . The total you now have is $10,000. I'll add to it as you need it. . . Oh, you needn't thank me. Goodbye, dear."

Laurel felt better now. At least she was to have some freedom in money matters. He would no doubt keep tab on her checks, but she didn't mind that. She had no desire to be extravagant with Noble Harwood's money, but as his wife she felt she ought to have some latitude in the management of domestic affairs. Still, she had no grounds for complaint on the score of stinginess. She needed only to speak, and whatever she wanted was hers—except responsibility in her home. Now, with a bank account, speaking wouldn't be necessary. Ten thousand dollars was as much as she would need to satisfy her own desires for a while. She tried to think of something she wanted to buy. The only thing that came to mind was clothes. She frowned. The precedent having been established in New York, no doubt Noble would always expect to be invited to accompany her when she bought dresses and things.

Reflection on the matter was depressing, and a feeling of loneliness assailed her. With no responsibility in the house, she was now daily finding time hanging heavily on her hands. Music, books, the garden, did not satisfy the longing to do something. Once or twice at this period she thought with pleasure that some time, perhaps, she would have an incentive to sew.

She went to the telephone and called Alice Kenwick. "Why haven't you been to see me? I've missed you terribly. You deserve a good shaking, young lady, because you've given me the cold shoulder. Can't you come over for luncheon?"

The answer was given hesitantly: "No, I'm going to Martha Lonn's—she has the Garden Club for luncheon today."

"I'll go with you. I'll come by for you."

"I'd be glad to have you go with me, Laurel, but you musn't take me in your car."

"Alice, I wish you would get over that foolishness of yours."

"I'm not going to argue with you about it, Laurel."

"Oh, all right. I'll walk. What time are you going?"

Laurel nonplussed Louis somewhat by telling him she didn't want the car when she appeared in the hall, dressed to go out. "And I won't be in for luncheon, Louis. If Mr. Harwood should call, you may tell him that I probably will return before five o'clock."

She felt curiously free as she stepped briskly down the winding walk to the gate, greeting Walter, the gardener, en route.

As she made her way toward Alice Kenwick's home, she was conscious of the stares of residents of "the Hill who rarely if ever saw a Harwood on foot in the streets.

There was much she had to say to Alice, and much she did say to her friends as they strode the six blocks to Martha Lonn's, until she noticed that there was a restraint in Alice's conversation.

"Alice Kenwick! What IS the matter with you? You're conducting yourself as if I were a stranger. I—." She frowned impatiently. "I thought you would always be my friend."

"Oh, Laurel, you know people will say that I'm sticking in, if I go with you. If my people were rich, like Martha Lonn's or Gloria Baird's or Ileana Wales, it would be different."

"They're all sticks, Alice! Listen, dear, people know we've been friends for years. Oh, Alice, is seems so unnatural to be talking to you like this There's no one I care for like you. Don't make me hate you by forcing me to beg you to—."

The appearance of Pauline Swann, also bound for the Garden club's luncheon, cut short Laurel's protest. For a few minutes the three of them chatted concentionally, as they progressed toward the Lonn house, then silence overtook them, a silence that made Laurel self-conscious. She was in the mood to turn back. However, she did not.

There was, she noticed, this same air of reserve about the attitude of the girls at the luncheon. Was she being punished for discarding the dictates of convention by marrying an old man? She was relieved when she departed with Alice, her heart heavy. She was not in the mood to talk much. So they walked along with but little to say, until they were halted by a familiar hail that startled Laurel. Wyman Holt stopped his car at the curb alongside them.

"Going your way," he called. Laurel's impulse was to flee. Alice looked at her for assent.

"If YOU want to, Alice,' she said, in a low voice, and immediately regretted leaving it up to her companion.

"Yes," said Alice, smiling at Wyman, pulling Laurel toward the car. They got in the rear seat.

"Where to?" he asked, looking Laurel in the eyes.

"Why—to Alice's."

"No, you musn't come in," her companion protested. "They're painting and papering, and everything is torn up. You'd better have Wyman drop you off at your home."

Laurel thought of directing him to her mother's house, but a hasty glance at her wrist watch—five o'clock—caused her to abandon this idea. There was nothing left to do. "I suppose you'd better drive me home, Wyman." His smile annoyed her. Of course he was thinking of her ultimatum to him.

She hoped that Noble or Marion would not see them. Fate ruled otherwise. Wyman Holt's car and the Harwood limousine, occupied by Noble and his daughter, arrived at the entrance to Harwood house simultaneously, and the limousine followed Holt's rakish sport model up the winding driveway.

THE raging current of Rink Rapids had thrown their frail craft against the jagged rocks, where she had splintered like an egg shell. "Everyone drown," muttered Doret, the woodsman. "Dis is Hell for sure," he muttered as he bent close to her face to see if she still breathed.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1925.

Another World's Fair

Chicago is planning another World's Fair, to be held in 1934 or 1937. The dates are significant in Chicago's own history. The earlier date is said to be the semi-centennial anniversary of her incorporation as a village, and the latter, of her city charter.

All the world remembers Chicago's great fair of 1884. That definitely established the Windy City's reputation as a hustling community and a dynamic trade center. It also set a standard for subsequent exhibitions which has hardly been equalled yet. It rests with the new, great, marvelous city on Lake Michigan, halfway station between East and West and gateway of continental traffic from the four points of the compass, to beat her own record. She may be depended on to do that.

The setting of this new exposition will be impressive. The present plan is to place it on the city's reconstructed lake front, between the beach and the skyscrapers, partly on the mainland and partly on the string of islands reaching southward from Grant Park to Jackson Park. That would give the fair itself a remarkable stage for display, and would also show advantageously to fair patrons the grandeur that is Chicago's.

It is time for more of these great national expositions. There should be other cities getting ready to follow Chicago's example.

Students On Football

There is a lot of discussion lately, for and ferninst, regarding college football. Possibly what the college men themselves think about it is more important than what other people think. They are the ones chiefly affected, and they are in position to know best its good and bad features.

A group of leading students of several eastern colleges, meeting in conference, express themselves in this fashion.

"We're not in college to be grinds, but we are in college, after all, to sharpen out wits and live not entirely on the sporting pages, and acquire a sense of proportion about life as we shall probably live it. For the whole fall term, and for part of the rest of the year, football makes us live from Saturday to Saturday in a sideshow of $100,000 gates, imported betting touts, perfervid enthusiasm solely on one subject, and semi-professional right guards. We object to overdoing it."

Which is to say, they simply seek the "golden mean" that is supposed to be the rule of trained minds. And they are not merely academic about it. They propose these concrete reforms:

They would stop paying coaches several times as much as professors.

They would keep coaches out of the games.

They would have only about four games with other colleges in a season.

They would play with teams of their own class and section, avoiding general competition and the lure of championships.

The "old grads" might not like this. But colleges, as undergraduates might suggest oftener than they do, are not run altogether for the vain glory of old grads.

No Waterway Rivalry

A big drive is being started to promote the development of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf water route. There are so many fine things about this project that it deserves widespread attention. It seems wise and reasonable that the Mississippi and its larger tributaries should be developed and maintained as a navigable transportation system. It is essential, however, that this project should be carried out in such a way that it will not harm any section of the counutry in order to benefit another.

In connecting the Mississippi waterway with the Great Lakes, capable and farsighted engineers should be consulted, men who will not let one vision obscure all others. It has already been said that this route can be developed without taking from the Great Lakes system anywhere near so much water as Chicago is demanding. If the Great Lakes system, already carrying the biggest fresh water commerce in the world, were harmed in order to create this Mississippi waterway, the vision of prosperity would be short-lived in its fulfillment. Each should supplement the other—not interfere with the other.

The development of greater power and transportation systems along all of America's mighty waterways is necessary, but it is essential that the good of the whole be considered in the development of any section. The good of one section cannot be sacrificed for the enrichment of another. Sectional prejudices must be dropped and broad national vision take its place if the fullest goo dis to be derived from development of our great waterway possibilities. It is not a matter for bitter rivalry but for intelligent co-operation.

It seems to be a law of nature that the debtor who wants to pay finds, in some miraculous manner, the means of paying.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Awake betimes and walked toward the Hudson, meeting an actor, a crafty coxcomb from toe to toe, and his silly vanities amused me not a little, especially when he said he thought of hiding in the woods to get away from ladies.

To breakfast with Frazier Hunt, the pamphleteer, and his son Master Bob who has grown to be a fine lad; recalled a frolic we had one day in Hyde Park in London. And how we made the parrot yell "Fire!" in ye olde Cheshire Cheese.

Home, where came Amon Carter and Bud Walker, the turfman, and we exchanged a few gay stories. Then to labour awhile and later with my wife in the brave moonshine to stroll in Central Park. So home tired and to bed.

Brass Town is a section lying between Delancy and Canal streets. It is here candle sticks, ash trays, bowls and fire sets are pounded out for uptown consumption—and a few antique stores. It is a Ghetto neighborhood with wigged women and bearded old men in skull caps. The drone of many hammers floats from cellars and dingy stores. Sunday is the big day for brass sellers and push cart merchants whose lusty cries add to the incessant din. Bargains are there—huge brass water pitchers for three dollars, Russian coffee pots for two dollars and monster brass trays for six dollars. Of course, the shopper must "bargain" but tradesmen enjoy keen bartering. Entire families live in little cellar shops. The section is pungent with the odor of brass. Stores in some instances remain open until after midnight.

In the same district is boiling Allen street where one sees furtive faces in night gloom—scarred Sicilians with rings in their ears, beetle-browed men with undershot jaws, blonde Russians, slinking Chinese, turbaned Lascans and beady-eyed Turks. There is a sinister flavor about the street with its faint globules of light. Rupert Hughes once spoke of it in a novel as the most terrible street in the city.

Not all white-haired ladies smoke cigarettes gracefully. One tried it in a two-toned tea room the other evening and turned a faint sea green. "Anyway," she said weakly, "it was fun watching a revolving table."

Visitors to New York are soon caught up in its robust rush. Those accustomed to what we used to call "moseying along" find themselves walking at the speed of a commuter late for the 5.15. The contagion of speed is in the air and a man on a casual stroll takes on appearance of rushing to a fire. A Parisian journalist once described home-going crowds on Forty-second street with: "They seemed to be running. If they stopped to buy newspapers they snatched them and hurried on."

Promenading Fifth avenue: A man with a quill toothpick behind his ear and another with a toothbrush in his vest pocket.

A noted boulevardier nearing chimney corner oblivion decided to add a touch of youthfulness with a facial operation. He went to a hospital where parafine was injected to puff out a few wrinkles. At the end of ten days he was released with a changed face. He celebrated with cronies and wound up in a Turkish bath. The heat set up a sort of chemicalization and the parafine declined to jell. In a warm room now his face begins to sag like a slowing deflating balloon.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Grazing on Forest Lands.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—Live stock owners who range almost 2,000,000 cattle and more than three times that number of sheep on the grazing lands in the national forests will not be permitted to acquire any vested rights in their grazing permits if congress follows the recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine. Presumptively the secretary expresses the views of the Coolidge administration.

Cattle men and sheep men have been making a hard drive to secure changes in the grazing system and they have been keenly interested in the stand that Secretary Jardine would take. They have maintained that what they have asked for is vital to the live stock industry, and they emphasize its importance to the general public by pointing out that there are some 31,000 of them who use the lands in the national forests under the permit system, their herds and flocks representing 20 per cent of the cattle and 28 per cent of the sheep in 11 western states.

The chief objection to the permit system as it has been devedoped is the uncertainty that surrounds the stockman's use of the range. He can never tell when his permit will be modified, the size of his herd reduced, or his grazing fees increased. The stockmen insist that they should have clearly defined rights in the use of the public grazing lands which they can maintain in court, if necessary, and which would be a transferable asset. Moreover, they contend that the government should not charge them fees comparable with established grazing fees on private lands, but only what it costs to administer the grazing system.

Some of the stockmen go much further, according to Secretary Jardine, asking for some form of permanent or vested property right acquired by past use of the range in connection with local ranches dependent upon pasturage in the national forests for their economic utility. This viewpoint, says the secretary, is the outgrowth of a sense of proprietorship in the national forest ranges by virtue of pioneer settlement, and carried to its logical conclusion would exclude from the forest range any new user, settler, or live stock producer of the future, except as the grazing preferences of the present user might lapse or be acquired through purchase.

Grazing Legislation Desirable.

Secretary Jardine believes that the production of live stock has a permanent and valuable place in the national forests and that every reasonable form of security should be given the live stock producer in making the most advantageous use of this public resource. He says, however, that any program for stabilizing grazing as a permanent feature of the national forests must square with the general interests of the public on certain points which he regards as vital to the whole conception and plan of conserving natural resources.

"In the first place," says the head of the Department of Agriculture in his annual report, "the use of the range must be subject to such control and adjustment as may be necessary to conserve and protect all of the resources in the national forests, including the forage itself, and this protection must be afforded through the direct supervision of the agencies responsible for the administration of the national forests as a whole. In the second place, although the stabilization of range use should be a primary feature of the policy, reasonable leeway must be retained for meeting the requirements of new settlement or land development where called for by the principle of the greatest public benefit. And in the third place, I believe that the use of the forage must rest upon a clean business basis of dealing with the public, with fair compensation for the value of the resource utilized, reasonably adjusted to current economic conditions in the live stock industry.

"Vested property rights in national forest range can not be harmonized with these requirements.

"I favor a provision of law that will authorize firm contracts or licenses for periods of ten years, to be binding upon the government as long as their conditions are met, and under which the requirements to be observed by the range users, possible reductions in numbers of live stock, and the provision for grazing fees shall be specifically set forth. Legislation of this nature will place the use of the national forest ranges on the same footing of legal recognition and specific contract relations which now exists in the utilization of timber."

Fees That Are Now Charged.

Fees now charged, which were based roughly upon range values prevailing in the western states in 1916, average approximately 12 cents per head per month for cattle and 3 cents per head for month for sheep.

The department contends that while the grazing fees paid on some of the national forests have been equal to or in excess of the actual value of the forage, on the ranges as a whole the present fees are less than the well established value of similar private lands by at least 75 per cent. During the present year fees that were found excessive were reduced, involving a loss to the government in revenue of $46,600 annually.

Secretary Jardine favors a plan that would give the stock men a great deal to say in the regulation of grazing on the forest ranges, but he is insistent that there should be

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting regularity for weeks and often for months—or must you "purge" and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

One dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

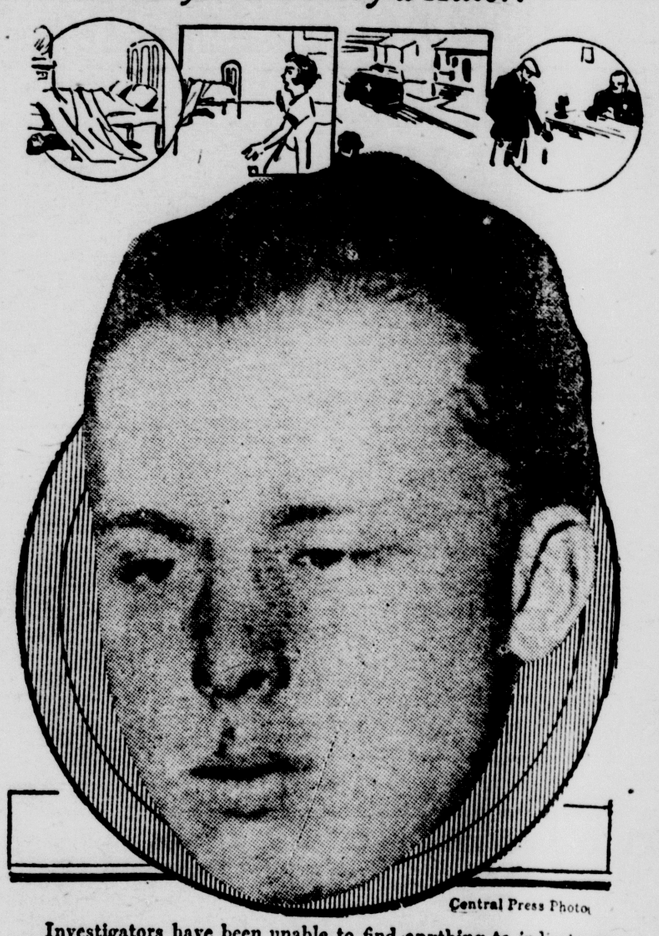
Why Is This Boy a Killer?



Central Press Photo.

Investigators have been unable to find anything to indicate an abnormal twist of mind, in the family history, boyhood or school record of Gordon Pirie, New York youth who slew his best friend, George Nye, Jr. His average in school was 85. His preferred reading was Dickens, and he knew nothing about the Loeb-Leopold case.

Church Choir Presents Program.

The choir of the First Presbyterian church offered their sixth special musical program in connection with the usual service Sunday evening.

The choir was assisted by Mrs. Zella Moyer Sauber, soprano; Mrs. John Patton, soprano; Mrs. R. A. Weinhardt, contralto, and Rowland T. Kaufman, tenor, all of this city, and James Coullie, tenor, of Pittsburgh, and J. W. Parland, baritone, of Marion, O.

The chorus singing, under the direction of W. A. Macdonald, choir director, was excellent. Mrs. J. C. Calhoun, at the organ, presented several pleasing numbers.

After a prelude, "Andante and Scherzo," Dethier, by Mrs. Calhoun, the program opened with an anthem, "The Inflamatus," from the Stabet Mator, Mrs. Sauber singing the obligato in superb style. The second number was a tenor and baritone duet, "Watchman, What of the Night?" by Sargant, was sung by Mr. Coullie and Mr. Parland, whose voices were heard to advantage in this selection. The chorus, "Almighty God," by Mascagni, which was the next in the program, was well received.

A quartet selection, "Fear Not Ye, Oh Israel," was rendered by Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Weinhardt, Mr. Kaufman and Mr. Macdonald. A soprano solo, "Hear My Cry, O God," by Miller, sung by Mrs. Patton, was one of the gems of the program.

The program was concluded by the anthem, "Worthy Is the Lamb," from the Messiah, rendered by the entire choir.

The next program will be offered by the choir on Sunday, December 27, when the Christmas cantata, "The Coming of the King," by Dudley Buck, will be prseented.

Provide This Christmas the Kind of Entertainment That Will Keep the Young Folks Home at Night

CHRISTMAS carols ring with rollicking cheer when you play them yourself by roll, with your personal touch and expression.

Anyone without musical training can play a piano solo by roll on the Gulbransen just like a pianist playing by hand. You can accompany a singer in any one of seven keys. The vocalist carries the air, the piano plays the accompaniment, usually in the bass or lower register. This can be done on the Gulbransen Registering Piano regardless of the melody notes that are cut in the roll.

There are many soloists who would not tolerate the "mechanical" playing of ordinary player pianos, who, willingly sing to the accompaniment of roll-played music on the Gulbransen Registering Piano.

For your amusement this Christmas, pay in, not out, for the money you spend for outside amusements would soon pay for a Gulbransen Registering Piano and your home will be the center of entertainment for the entire family for years to come.

Come in and play this piano that you will find this Christmas in thousands of happy homes.

DONAHEY ASKS BAN ON LOGAN GAS CO. RATES

Governor Calls for Suspension of Higher Charges.

SENDS LETTER

Utilities Commission Expected to Grant Request.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14.—Gov. Vic Donahey today asked the State Utilities commission to suspend the schedule of increased rates which the Logan Gas Company planned to put into effect beginning at midnight tonight in approximately seventy-two municipalities and districts throughout Ohio.

Indications were that the commission will comply with the governor's request and that an order suspending these proposed rates will be issued by the commission today.

The governor told the commission that "there are many small towns and communities whose interests have been neglected (in the matter of protesting against the proposed rates) and whose rate will be raised on December 15, unless you take the necessary action of suspension."

"My attention has been called to a proposed schedule of increase rates which has been filed with your commission by the Logan Gas company, effective December 15, unless suspended by your commission," Governor Donahey wrote the state utilities commission.

"I am informed that a large number of towns which this rate charge would affect have already filed the necessary protest in order to bring about a suspension insofar as the proposed increase would apply to their individual cases.

"I am, also informed that there are many towns and communities whose interests have been neglected and whose rate will be raised on December 15, unless you take the necessary action of suspension.

"I deem it advisable, and am therefore, suggesting that the proposed change of rates be suspended in all cases by your body until further hearing has been had and the reasonableness of the proposed increased rates has been determined."

tled," is was said.

"It does mean, however, that the department will be able to continue the work effectively and press it to a termination without the big staff that has been required in the past two years."

During the operation of the war frauds section about $10,250,000 has been collected by the government from contractors and others who carried out war projects. In this period more than $2,200,000 has been expended for maintenance of the work.

Remaining on the docket for solution are several important civil cases and a few criminal actions. Thirteen cantonment suits in which are involved probably $70,000,000, await decisions in the federal courts.

Pending cases were described as in three classes:

1.—Production contracts, embracing erection of camps, munitions factories, industrial plants and the purchase of supplies.

2.—Settlement contracts, involving adjudication of claims, made by the government as a result of cancellation of agreements entered into during the war for supplies not required after the armistice.

3.—Sale of surplus war materials, including industrial plants, millions of dollars worth of which were held by the government after the war.

Many important cases are under investigation and it is probable that suits will be instituted within the next few months. A decision in the action against the Dayton Airplane Company, tried in the federal court at Cincinnati, and outcome of the appeal of the Dusenberg Motors-Willys corporation case, will govern action of the government in instituting proceedings in other aircraft suits.

The aircraft cases were instituted as test actions. The district court decision in the Dusenberg case was unfavorable to the government and it was taken to a high court.

ful rites which have grown into the liturgy of such occasions throughout many centuries of precedents. The ancient precincts of the vatican with their wealth of architecture and art, reflecting Christian symbolism of the ages, formed a setting which could not be duplicated anywhere else in the world for a ceremonial without a parallel outside the Catholic church.

Out of her long past, the church once more sent out her message to the world and raised up four of her sons to the highest honors she confers save only the papacy itself. The new cardinals are Msgr. Bonaventure Corretti, titular archbishop of Corinth, papal nuncio in Paris and formerly attached to the apostolic legation in Washington; Msgr. Patrick O'Donnell, archbishop of Armagh, Ireland; Msgr. Enrico Gasparri, titular archbishop of Sebaste, the papal nuncio in Rio de Janeiro, and Msgr. Alessandre Verde, the secretary of the congregation of rites.

Berlin Chiet Asks Dr. Koch to Form Coalition Cabinet

Democratic Party Leader Accepts Hindenburg Charge After Former Premier Fehrenbach, Centrist, Declines.

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—President Hindenburg today charged Dr. Erich Koch, leader of the Democratic party, with the responsibility of forming a cabinet, based upon a great coalition. Dr. Koch accepted the task.

The invitation to Dr. Koch came after former Premier Fehrenbach had declined, as leader of the Centrist party, on grounds that he could not act against the decision of the Catholic Centrists not to permit one of their number to be chosen as premier.

Dr. Koch, who was formerly minister of the interior, had been expected to refuse the task and his acceptance was somewhat in the nature of a surprise.

Due to the indefiniteness of the program of the great coalition the chances of Dr. Koch having success in forming a cabinet are more or less questionable. His efforts are being watched with great interest.

Dr. Koch was Lord Mayor of Cassel when his political career started. He was elected to the Weimar National Assembly in 1919 and became minister of interior of the Bauer cabinet. He retained this post under successive chancellorships of Herr Mueller and Fehrenbach, but declined the post in the Wirth cabinet. He then became leader of the Democratic party.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Narrow price changes, with industrial stocks and a few of the rails inclined slightly higher, while oil and equipment stocks continued under selling pressure, marked the early trading in the New York market today. Many of last week's buoyant leaders were freely supplied at a slightly lower price range in this period. Motor stocks, after a higher level of values at the opening, declined a few points and reacted to below Saturday's closing prices. The market appeared to be in a sold-out condition, particularly in stocks which could not boast of strong pool backing.

Week-end industrial and business reports disclosed nothing of special importance, except that retail business was fulfilling expectations, and that in all probability an easier money market was in prospect after the middle of this week. Further withdrawals of gasoline from storage in Mid-Continent was in larger volume than expected and railroad traffic reports showed the continuation of a high rate of domestic business. Call loans were renewed at 5 per cent.

American Can's new aggressive forward movement, which brought the price of the stock to above its former high record of 263, was easily the feature of the industrial shares. In sharp contrast was the new decline in American Woolen. Foundation company moved up briskly to 153¾ for a four-point gain. Federal Light & Traction, Bush Terminal and Allis-Chalmers were pushed forward by their respective pools to new high prices on the movement. Good buying continued in the public utility stocks, under the lead of Consolidated Gas. The railroad shares were lifeless, with the exception of Atlantic Coast Line and a few of the northwestern rails. Murray Body staged a modest comeback and reached 9¾ on the recovery. Most of the outside markets were irregular.

After a long and successful run at the Lyric Theatre, New York, a Broadway showhouse where the best of attractions are offered, "Bringing Up Father in Gay New York," and the entire Mahoney clan will be the presentation at the Ceramic theatre, Saturday matinee and night. Then there will be a dominating and exceptionally captivating usual bevy of pretty young women, trained beauties capable of finding favor on their own account in any environment anywhere. Music that lingers, laughter that adds to the delight of living and singing and dancing that long will be remembered after the proceedings are over and enjoyed.

Attacks Count of "Almost Treasonable Administration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who was challenged and relieved as president of the Col. William Mitchell court-martial, came back to the trial as a witness today to attack the flying colonel's charges that the war and navy departments were guilty of "almost treasonable administration" of aviation.

After being driven off the court by the defense, Summerall, rushed to the war department and issued a caustic statement declaring that "in the future Mitchell and I are enemies."

NYE, BOB CASES BEFORE SENATE

Seek to Clear Decks For World Court Fight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The senate election committee today adopted a report recommending that Senator-designate Gerald P. Nye, (R.) of North Dakota, be denied his seat.

The report declared that Governor Sorlie of North Dakota had no legal authority to appoint Nye.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—With harmony as their keynote, administration leaders sought to clear the senate's decks today for the approaching world court fight by immediate settlement of the La Follette and Nye cases.

The question of giving young Bob La Follette the Republican committee assignments, denied his father last March, was expected to be amicably answered by the Republican committee on committees this afternoon without further fuss or feathers.

There were indications young La Follette will be given places on most of the committees on which his father served. These assignments were favored by Republican leaders because of young Bob's familiarity with their activities through long association with the elder La Follette.

The seating of Senator-designate Gerald P. Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, however, is a more difficult problem for administration leaders to solve. A wide divergence of views split the senate into two groups regardless of party lines and the senate itself must render the final verdict. The case probably will be reported to the senate during the day by the elections committee with a recommendation that Nye be denied his seat. A majority of the committee, including all Republicans and several Democrats, was said to feel that Governor Sorlie of North Dakota was without authority to appoint Nye.

borne an operation in the effort to check the process of disintegration going on inside the marrow of his bones.

As soon as he can build up strength enough to stand it, he must have his twenty-eighth operation.

Although only thirty seven years old, Williams looks 50. He might well look 150, after all the agony, the ether, and torture that he has endured.

But still he smiles.

And this man is paid by the war department, by a "grateful nation," after enduring all this suffering, just exactly $49 per month.

He was only an "emergency officer," not a regular one.

His "emergency" ended when the government was safe, and he, riddled with bayonet and bullet holes, was retired without pay. He gets the $49 from the Veterans' bureau, and in addition to that he gets "living hell" at the hands of surgeons doing their best to keep him alive.

This man knows what war is.

Senator Capper of Kansas reminds American farmers that this nation should keep out of war, out of European entanglements, out of the league of nations and world court, out of the stupid idea that it is our duty to go over there, get shot, and squander our billions because they can't keep from cutting one another's throats.

And this soldier's case should make the farmers write to their congressman, their senators, and to the President himself, demanding the construction of an adequate air fleet to keep this country safe when the next war comes.

Ten years ago Lloyd George stood between Britain and defeat by the Germans

He supplied the money, manufactured the ammunition, forced the adoption of a unified command of the armies. He is the man that won the war. Three-quarters of the Englishmen have forgotten it; they never liked him very much, anyhow.

But British historians a hundred years hence will do him justice, and show that he saved the British empire and put the kaiser in Holland.

They say that republics are ungrateful; monarchies also.

WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Car Plunges Over Wellsville-Salineville Road Embankment.

Mrs. Ernest E. Foster, colored, of 220 East Third street, was cut about the face and head by broken glass when her husband's automobile plunged over a six-foot embankment on the Wellsville-Salineville road, about four miles east of Salineville, at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster had driven to the end of the new road and were on their way home when the accident occurred. Foster, at the wheel, attempted to pass another car traveling in the same direction. He says he sounded his horn and the driver in front of him pulled off to one side of the road. Just as his automobile pulled alongside of the first car, the driver is said to have swerved his machine back into the center of the road. Foster, in an effort to avoid the crash, swung his car and it plunged off the road.

Lester Cawood, of this city, brought Mrs. Foster to the City hospital, where she was attended by Dr. R. J. Marshall. Her condition is not serious. The machine, with the front axle bent and bumper wrecked, was driven to Wellsville under its own power and then brought to East Liverpool by the McElravy wrecker.

Champ Fiddler Given $3 Gold Piece By Ford; Goes to East

Motor King Escorts Mellie Dunham and His Wife, "Gram," to Train for Trip to New York.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—Treasuring $3 in gold presented to him by Henry Ford, Mellie Dunham, champ fiddler of the state of Maine, and his wife, "Gram," are enroute east today to be guests of A. S. Measury, official of a large New York city trucking company.

Mellie's waltz, "Rippling Waves," the strains of which delighted the motor king, was recorded and is to be distributed to churches and schools throughout the country.

Ford went down to the depot last night to see the Dunhams off. Ford went right into the train with the old down east couple who had been his guest since Tuesday and saw to it that they were comfortably settled in their compartment. The motor king had a word with the conductor about Mellie and Gram, reminding that functionary that this was the first long trip away from home in all their three score years of life. The conductor said he would keep an eye on them.

Mellie collected the $3 in gold for playing Friday night at Ford's old fashioned dance at Dearborn. When Mellie plays for a dance in his home village of Norway, Maine, he charges only $1.50, but when he goes out of town it costs $3.

Ford heard about the fiddler's rates and started hunting for a $3 gold piece. It took the richest man in the world three days to get what he wanted.

"I knew I had that gold piece somewhere around the house," Ford told reporters at the depot, "but we had to ransack every thing to find it."

"Winds of Chance," Rex Beach Story, At The American

"Winds of Chance," Rex Beach's story of the Alaskan gold rush, picturized for First National by Frank Lloyd, creator of "Black Oxen," "The Sea Hawk" and other memorable screen hits, is the feature offering at the American theatre three days, commencing today.

The new Lloyd picture is said to represent not only the most accurate drama of Alaskan life ever made, but is enacted by a cast the like of which has seldom, if ever, been seen in a single attraction heretofore.

More than five months were required to obtain the atmospheric backgrounds of Alaska during four different seasons, and Lloyd and his players traveled more than 13,000 miles to reproduce the scenic splendor of our last frontier. The cameras obtained scenes in rain and snow storms, on river beds and frozen lakes and glaciers, and even at the summit of snow-capped peaks high above the clouds.

Dawson City, the goal of thousands of sourdoughs in 1897 and 1898, was completely reproduced for one sequence of the play as well as other famous points along the rail from Dyea—Sheep Camp, the Summit, Linderman, Dyea, White Horse, Miles Canyon and Chilkoot Pass, the mile-high granite barrier between the Pacific and the opper Yukon.

Motor vehicles destined for Vienna are assessed $86 each if taken through Trieste and $200 if taken through Germany or other continental ports.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting.

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete staghation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonardt tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent. and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from C. G. Anderson today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

Trim Christian Church Quint, 25 to 21, on Y. M. C. A. Court, After Piling up Commanding Lead in First Half of Contest

METHODIST PROTESTANT basketballers achieved their second church league victory of the season Saturday night on the "Y" court when they nosed out the Christian quint, 25 to 21.

The scrap was close all the way, the M. P. outfit having an edge in the first half and losing it in the second. Inaccuracy and lack of teamwork handicapped the Christians.

The M. P. five took the lead at the start, counting six points before the Christians found the hoop. The M. P.'s kept the lead through the half, the count being 18 to 7 when hostilities ceased for the intermission.

With Reese in the lineup in the concluding half, the Christians showed a decided form reversal but the lead piled up by the opposition was too much to overcome.

Mackey, Carey and Weikart were the leading performers for the winners, while Reese, Kilmer and Heddleston led for the Christians.

In the preliminary, the Christian Juniors won from the United Presbyterian Juniors, 29 to 7.

LISBON QUINT HERE TONIGHT

Clash With Power Five on I. O. O. F. Court

After winning seven consecutive games this season, the Power basketball five will battle something a little stronger than the opposition they have encountered thus far when they take on the Lisbon Dodge Motors tonight at the Odd Fellows.

The contest is the first independent engagement of the year for local cage fans and, as a result, a capacity house is expected.

On Wednesday night Manager Geren will take his Power five to Columbiana where they will assist the Miller Brothers in their lid-lifting ceremonies.

In a preliminary to the main go tonight at the Odd Fellows, the fair sex will claim the spotlight, the Lisbon High Selects being billed to play against the East Liverpool Selects. The local lineup includes Misses Grace McConnell, Clarice Imbrie, Helen Imbrie, Hannah Corns and Nellie Gilliland.

SLIM BROMBY MOUNT VET

Reports for Practice With Bob Wright's Quint.

Over at Alliance, Coach Bob Wright is rounding his Mount Union basketeers, Ohio conference champions, into shape for their opening game of the present season Tuesday, Dec. 22, with Slippery Rock Normal at Alliance. He has four of last winter's letter men on the squad, Captain Bo Laber, ex-Captain Lefty Miller, Red Bromby of East Liverpool and George Wilcoxon. These men were members of the team which went through last season's schedule and didn't lose a game, and Miller and Laber were members of the team the year before which went through the season and lost only the final game to Oberlin.

Besides these four, Wright has several of last year's subs in Burkle, guard; Mills, forward; Orr, forward, and Ball, guard. Harvey, who played a stellar game at end on this year's football team, may find a berth and another good prospect is Johnny Roth, who was quite a flash when he played on the Alliance high quintet several years ago. Wright has cut the original squad of 30 down to 14 men and some of these will be dropped as the season progresses.

After the opening game with Slippery Rock, Mount Union tackles Ashland on the Purple floor in a non-conference clash on January 8. This is followed by a practice game with Firestone Tires at the Rubber City. Then comes the first conference game, Wooster at Wooster on January 16. Three days later the Methodists meet Hiram on the Hiram floor and on January 22 Baldwin-Wallace comes to Alliance.

PRO HOCKEY TO GET BIG WELCOME

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Professional hockey will have its local debut at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night and New York today was preparing to do itself proud with a series of elaborate ceremonies to commemorate the occasion. The Royal Foot Guards band, of Montreal, was scheduled to arrive here today to head a parade of Canadians to city hall where the visitors were to be received officially by Mayor Hylan. Some 1,500 visitors were expected tomorrow for the game, which will be contested between the New York club and Les Canadiens of Montreal, last year's league champions.

Following the contest, a dinner and ball to the rival teams will be given by the Canadian club of New York at the Hotel Biltmore. The West Point band will join the Royal Foot Guards in furnishing music for the occasion.

Veterans Figure in Major League Swaps At Recent Sessions

Veterans galore have figured in the baseball market during the session of the major leagues here.

Joe McGinnity, "Iron Man," of the Giants years ago, comes back to the majors as a coach for Brooklyn, and associated with him will be Joe Kelly of the old Baltimore Orioles.

Bill Killefer, manager of the Cubs until late last season, has signed to assist Manager Hornsby with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Otto Miller, former Brooklyn ctacher, also will have something to do with preparing the Dodgers for the camaign next summer.

Joe Sudgen, succeeded by Killifer at St. Louis signed immediately to aid Art Fletcher with the Phillies.

As to the younger players, Detroit has obtained Homer Ezzell, third baseman, and Ernest Vache, outfielder, from the Red Sox and then sent them to Fort Worth for Billy Mullen, infielder, and Gus Johns, pitcher. Detroit traded Fred Haney, third baseman, to Boston in the deal.

The Cleveland Indians sent the veteran Chick Fewster to Kansas City and the Philadelphia Nationals sold Chicken Hawks, first-baseman, to Newark of the International.

Clyde Beck, of Los Angeles, infielder, was purchased by the Cubs.

GRANGE TO PLAY IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14.—Positive assurance that Red Grange will play in the professional game next Saturday here in which the Cleveland Bulldogs meet the Chicago Bears was received by the local club here today. George Halas, manager of the Bears, said there was nothing seriously wrong with Grange's arm, but that he needed a complete rest for a few days.

Pity the Weak Skinny Children

Nature's greatest health builder and strength giver is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamines of the first class—every one knows that.

But pity the poor children—how can they take this nasty, nauseating stuff that invariably upsets their small, delicate stomachs?

Most of them can't and now—thank goodness—none of them have to.

For now Cod Liver Oil comes in tasteless sugar coated tablets, that are as easy for the kids to take as candy and they sure do build up the youngsters in double quick time.

So mothers, if any one of your loved ones is frail and peaked or isn't feeling right just ask Mathews Medicine store or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

One sickly, thin child aged 9 gained 12 pounds in seven months and now plays daily with other children.

Splendid for any run down, weak, skinny, nervous man or woman—thousands of boxes are sold daily—but be sure and ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets — the original and genuine. Try them for 30 days and if you aren't delighted with the improvement your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

WOMAN WINS WALK WAGER

Tramps From Providence to Boston in Nine Hours

BOSTON, Dec. 14.—Marching over the concrete automobile highway from Providence, R. I., to Boston in approximately nine hours, Miss Eleanora Sears, famous Boston society horsewoman, all-around athlete and international tennis player, today won a wager from Howard Sturgess of Providence, who said it would take her more than fifteen hours to make the hike.

Followed by a beach wagon containing coffee, malted milk, chocolate and sandwiches, and accompanied by Roger Cutler, former Harvard athlete, Albert Hinickley, of Boston, and a delegation of newspaper reporters, Miss Sears left from in front of the Sturgess home in Providence at 1 A. M.

Crossing the Rhode Island-Massachusetts line, Miss Sears overtook her pacemakers, Cutler and Hinckley. Not once during the long hike did Miss Sears lose her breath or good nature. She averaged 5 3-5 miles an hour for the 47 miles of her walk.

FAVOR KAPLAN IN HERMAN GO

Scrap is Flareback From Waterbury Affair.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—It was apparent, from the trend of Broadway sentiment today, that Louis Kid Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., would enter the ring on Friday a favorite to retain his featherweight title against Babe Herman, the California challenger, in spite of the fact that many thought Herman won on the occasion of their first meeting some months ago. The bout was held at Waterbury, Conn., and the official ruling was a draw. It was far from a popular decision.

In fact, it was so roundly criticized that the New York commission ruled that Kaplan could not fight in this state until he had given Herman another chance. Friday's bout is the result.

The existing sentiment in favor of Kaplan has been influenced by reports that his health was impaired by illness at the Waterbury meeting.

Coach Charges Knapp With Breach of Faith

Asserts Football Committee Head Made Unauthorized Statement of Three-year Contract; University Athletic Heads to Probe Affair.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—A showdown of cold hands was expected to be made today on the Rockne episode when Columbia university's committee on athletics will hold a general meeting for the purpose of instituting a rigid investigation of the facts concerning Columbia's prema, ture, and seemingly unauthorized, announcement that Knute Rockne would coach its football team for the next three years.

It was indicated that the committee would tender Rockne a public apology in the event that it was found that he was justified in declaring he was made a victim of "bad faith" by James R. Knapp, chairman of the football committee.

"Just a young man who considers himself somewhat of a city slicker," was Rockne's parting shot at Knapp as he boarded a train for South Bend, Ind., last night.

It was Rockne's claim that, after signing a three-year agreement with Columbia, contingent upon his getting a release from Notre Dame, he wrote to Knapp to declare the entire deal dead because of his inability to obtain Notre Dame's sanction to the move. Knapp, he said, countered by making a public announcement to the effect that Rockne was coming to Columbia on a three-year contract.

Youth on Committee.

The Columbia committee on athletics is a combination of youth and experience, several of its members having been prominently identified with the 1925 football team.

The latter are George Pease, prominently mentioned for the All American quarterback post, and Ray Wagner, captain and star end. Alfred Mannheim, captain of the basketball team, also is a member of the committee.

That the views of Nicholas Murray Butler, internationally famous president of the university, may be reflected by the committee's action was indicated by the fact that Frank D. Fackenthal, secretary of the university, also is on the committee. The remaining members are Charles Halstead Mapes, prominent in intercollegiate athletics; R. L. Von Bernuth, Gale H. Carter, Dr. Edward F. Elliott and Edward Grant, registrar of the university.

Whether Knapp would be called upon to appear before the committee and explain his side of the controversy was not made known. There are rumors, however, that if his action in the Rockne case was not sustained by the committee, he would tender his resignation as chairman of the football committee.

Facts Summed Up.

From the several conflicting statement issued by Rockne and Knapp, the following facts are evident:

That, on December 1, Rockne signed a three-year agreement with Columbia with the understanding that it was only valid in the event that he could get his release from Notre Dame; that either he failed in this objective and so notified Knapp, or he had not yet broached the matter at Notre Dame when Knapp made premature announcement of the contract; that following a lengthy meeting at Knapp's office on Saturday, at which harsh words were uttered, Rockne and Knapp issued separate statements, the latter releasing the coach from his Columbia contract and Rockne reviewing the entire situation and charging Knapp with bad faith.

Knapp, on the other hand, charged that Rockne represented himself as not being under contract with Notre Dame when he signed the Columbia agreement. Rockne's reply was to ask why it was necessary to obtain a release from Notre Dame if no contract existed.

Rockne to go Abroad On Vacation Journey, First in Ten Years

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. — Knute Rockne, storm center of the controversy with James R. Knapp, chairman of Columbia university's football committee, will sail for abroad on January 6 for his first vacation in ten years, it was revealed today. He will be accompanied by several Notre Dame graduates aboard the French liner De Grasse and will spend several weeks in the south of France.

Woman of Forty Victim of Constipation

Mrs. Fannie White of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"Almost every morning, for the last five years I suffered with sick headaches. I felt this was due to nervousness, never dreaming that faulty intestinal elimination caused my suffering. I felt wretched, my appetite was gone, I lost interest in preparing my meals, life was not worth living. A few days' treatment of Carter's Little Liver Pills worked wonders. They are small, easy to take—no griping—and leave pleasant after effects." For sale at all druggists.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

Signor Rocco Tozze is the new lightweight champion of the world (as far as the New York state boxing commission is concerned).

Which means that after 14 years of grueling warfare Mr. Tozze has possession of a boxing title that doesn't mean as much as two whoops in an empty ice house.

The man who wore one of those old-time 10-cent badges labeled "Chicken Inspector" and which used to make all the folks giggle just terribly, got about the same sense of importance and glory as Signor Tozze does from his crown.

Signor Tozze is better known as Tocky Kansas, who has just ascended the lightweight throne of New York by licking Jimmy Goodrich, winner of the tourney held to name a successor to Benny Leonard.

We now have Mr. Kansas trying to look kingly on the throne of a man who has licked him three distinct and widely separated times.

Kansas, however, deserves the recognition he may draw. He has given boxing the best years of his youth and life. Had his head been as willing as his hands he might have been the bona fide featherweight or lightweight king long before this. He early showed cleverness as a boxer. He appeared to be destined to round into one of the game's great hitters. He had powerful shoulders, heavy forearms—like Dempsey's—and a pair of good hands. However, in over 150 bouts listed under his name to date he has knocked out less than 30 opponents.

He seemed unable to master the intricacies, the real science of hitting such as Kilbane, Leonard, Dempsey—men of three distinctly different types—mastered them. In other words, he is the same plugging, willing fighter today he was a couple of years after his career began.

Not wishing to belittle Kansas' victory, it must be said that the attempt of the eastern critics to carry through Jimmy Goodrich's claim to Leonard's title was little short of ludicrous. There were half a dozen leading contenders for Benny's crown who were not included in the tourney.

SCHAEFER HIRES HOPPE A COACH

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—According to reports in circulation today, Jake Schaefer will prepare for his return to 18.2 balkline billiard match with Edouard Horemans, beginning January 4, by placing himself under the directions of Willie Hoppe, former champion. The latter was expected here early next week but would return to Chicago directly after Christmas, it was said, to work out with Schaefer for the latter's attempt to regain his championship title.

Horemans deprived Schaefer of this honor several weeks ago by a score of 1,500 to 1,495.

Bout With Stribling Huffman's Goal Now

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—It developed today that Young Stribling, sensational Georgia lightweight, has agreed to meet Eddie Huffman, the California contender, in Madison Square Garden next month, in the event that Huffman disposes of Ad Sone in Newark on Wednesday night. Stribling and Huffman met in a ten-round bout at Los Angeles some time ago and Stribling got the decision, although the Californian rallied strongly in the closing round.

Ancient Coffin Found

no appeal to the courts in matters of this kind and that when it comes to a showdown the head of the department should have the final determination.

"The department believes in developing the regulatory phase of grazing administration more completely along the lines of local self-government by the live stock permittees directly concerned," says the secretary. "To that end, a system of local boards, functioning for the national forests or the state, is believed desirable. Ordinary matters of local grazing management and range administration may thus be settled by the stockmen themselves in cooperation with local officers of the forest service.

"The numerous questions involved in the local adjustment of grazing are not susceptible of judicial determination. They should be dealt with on the ground in a cooperative spirit by practical range users and experienced grange officers of the forest service. And in order that the responsibility for the administration of the national forests and the conservation of their varied resources may not be divided, or antagonistic policies put into effect in different sections, it is believed imperative that a final determination on appeal or otherwise of all questions of a distinctly administrative nature, should rest with the head of the department.

"At the same time every user of the national forests should have ready access to the courts for the determination of his rights under the law or of disputes arising in his contractural relations with the government."

There are between ninety and one hundred million acres of grazing lands in the national forests.

The Country's O. K.
Nell Brinkley's Sound Advice.
"I Might Be Worse Off."
Ungrateful Monarchies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Copyright, 1925.

When your friend asks, "What do you think about fundamental business conditions?" vary the monotony with some facts. Mr. Hoover supplies these:

Five years ago wages were 99 per cent above the rate before the war. Last year they were 120 per cent above the per-war level. Wholesale prices of goods that were 126 per cent above per-ward prices in 1920 have fallen to 50 per cent above. In other words, wages are 128 per cent higher, wholesale prices of goods only 50 per cent higher.

We have about all the money there is, business is good. High finance is the most powerful influence in the country, which means that for awhile at least things will boom, railroads and other corporations will make big profits. Those profits leak out from the big pockets into the little pockets.

On the whole, if we in America don't spill things for ourselves there doesn't seem to be anything to spoil them for us.

The one big but, however, is this question: How high are retail prices going? Wages are up 128 per cent, and wholesale costs of supplies up only 50 per cent, and so we ought to be well off. But how much does it cost to distribute the whole thing?

There's our trouble—expensive distribution.

Nell Brinkley tells the American girl that love alone should be a lipstick, rouge box, dark pencil for the eyebrows, her ma[illegible] generally.

Cupid lends a color to the cheek, brightness to the eye, that cannot be bought in any drug store.

Of all beauty the greatest, most perfect, is the beauty of health and goodness, good spirit, good morals, above all.

Let Cupid touch up your face, with his wonderful paint box of love and devotion, and you will not miss the lipstick, the rouge or the darkening for eyebrows or eyelashes.

A girl might paint and powder and "touch up" to the crack of doom. And she would only be a painted and powdered girl.

The girl in whose face a young man sees honest affection, loyalty and true love, possesses a beauty that lasts, wins, and is worth while.

There is no other beauty that amounts to anything in the opinion of a sensible young man.

Nathan Williams, a machine gun captain in the war, was praised for his courage under fire. He deserves a million times more praise, for his courage since the war.

For six years he has gone "through hell," as Senator Capper's paper puts it, on a hospital cot.

His bones were shattered by machine gun bullets, and bayonet wounds for he lived up to the motto of the fighting gunner: "A gunner never leaves his gun until he is ready for the grave."

12 Pupils In Sixth Street School Ordered Vaccinated

Three Cases of Smallpox Develop During Week-end Among Children in Seventh and Eighth Grade.

Fearing spread of smallpox among children of the seventh and eighth grades of the Sixth street school building as a result of the development of three cases of the disease over the week-end, City Health Commissioner John A. Fraser today ordered all pupils of the two grades who had not been vaccinated to be dismissed from further classes.

Complying with the order, Principal A. C. Moore sent 12 boys and girls home, including only those who had not been vaccinated. Those, also, who had had smallpox in recent years were permitted to remain.

Two cases were reported among the seventh grade children and one in the eighth, the youngsters coming from a Wilson family in John street, a Tucker family in Drury lane and a Seacrist family in West Ninth street.

Pupils who were dismissed from school will be permitted to resume their studies immediately upon vaccination, the health commissioner announced. Otherwise they will be forced to remain away from classes for a period of 17 days.

FRED SEBRING, AGED 56, DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

Retired Pottery Plant Owner Stricken in His Home.

REALTY OPERATOR

Leaves Widow and Two Daughters; Funeral Plans in Abeyance.

Fred Sebring, 56, former resident of East Liverpool, and until a few years ago head of the Saxon China company, Sebring, died suddenly in his home in Sebring Sunday morning, following an attack of heart disease.

Mr. Sebring, who has been engaged in real estate operations in Florida and Sebring, since disposing of his pottery interests, had just returned from Florida, where he had been visiting. He was in his home about an hour when he collapsed and died before a physician could be summoned.

He, with his brothers, launched their pottery manufacturing business in 1895 in a plant which occupied the site of the Peter Milliron building at the corner of Second and Market streets, the plant being operated under the name of the Sebring China company.

Managed E. Palestine Pottery.

The company disposed of their East Liverpool holdings in 1900 when the first of the new plants at Sebring was erected. Fred Sebring went to East Palestine where he managed the Ohio China company's plant until about 1903 and 1904 when he moved to Sebring.

He was connected with the Saxon China company, which sold its interests to the French China company in 1917. He became interested in real estate, maintaining his home in Sebring.

Mr. Sebring was a member of the Sebring lodge, Knights of Pythias, and was a charter member of the Sebring Rotary club.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Alliance, and Mrs. David McCalmont, of Sebring. Four brothers, C. H., George, E. H., and Frank Sebring, all of Sebring, and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Barclay, also of Sebring, and Mrs. Eva Norris, Pittsburgh, also survive.

Funeral arrangements are being held in abeyance, pending the return of three brothers, who have been spending the winter in Florida.

O. S. U. Professor's Trial on Dry Law Charges Postponed

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Professor Dabney Horton, of the English department, Ohio State university, will not go on trial as scheduled today on charges of illegally manufacturing and possessing liquor. His attorneys today granted a week's continuance in order to prepare their case.

Horton was arrested last week when state prohibition agents raided his home and confiscated a small still and a quantity of liquor.

Pending the outcome of his trial, he has been relieved of his duties at the university.

MISS BEATRICE MACHIN, 18, KNOCKED DOWN ON DARK STREET BY MAN

Unidentified Man Sinks Teeth Into Hand of Elmer Merchant Who Answers Victim's Appeal for Help.

STRANGER FLEES AFTER TUSSLE

Police Investigate Assault Which Occurs at Night as Girl is on Way to Ninth Street Home.

Police today were searching for an unidentified slugger, who is alleged to have attacked Miss Beatrice Machin, 18, pottery worker, near the West Ninth street Church of God, as she was on her way to her home at 10 o'clock Friday evening. The girl was knocked to the ground, but unharmed she ran in the direction of her home, only about two squares away.

Finds Girl's Assailant.

Girl, bordering on hysteria, after the attack, met Elmer Merchant, of Moore street, Y. & O. railroad freight agent, as she passed a confectionery on her way home. Answering her appeal for help, Merchant hurried to the scene of the slugging.

Merchant found the slugger hiding back of a barn in an alley leading off West Ninth street. He grasped him by the arm, intending to turn him over to the police.

The stranger resisted Merchant. In the tussle to free himself the slugger bit his captor on the hand. Merchant was forced to release his grip and the stranger fled down the dark alley in the direction of the Enterprise laundry, West Eighth street, and soon disappeared.

Police Search for Suspect.

Police were notified and Patrolman Lister and Turnkey William Cline responded. A search of the district was made, but no trace of the slugger could be found.

Miss Machin was not injured although she was in a nervous condition, due to fright.

Merchant believes he would be able to recognize the slugger. He was shabbily dressed, according to Merchant.

RAIDS CRAP GAME; THREE MEN FINED

Captain of Police Conley interrupted a crap game, which is alleged to have been in progress in a Fourth street building about midnight Saturday, arresting three participants.

The three were registered at City hall under the names of Ralph Cole, Harold Johnson and James Mason. Bond of $11 each, posted by the players, was declared forfeited when they failed to appear before Mayor Brown yesterday.

NO TRUTH IN REPORT POPE WILL LEAVE VATICAN; FOUR NEW CARDINALS NAMED

Three Italian Prelates and Successor to St. Patrick in Irish See of Armgh are Honored.

ROME, Dec. 14.—Pope Pius let it be known today that there is no truth in recent persistent reports that he is about to go outside the vatican enclosure.

The Holy Father made this declaration in the allocution which he delivered in connection with announcement of the creation of four new cardinals.

That he has not abandoned, and seems unlikely to abandon, the policy prevailing since 1870, whereby the pope imposes imprisonment on himself, was made clear when the pontiff deplored conditions which he said still compel him to remain within the vatican.

This assertion came while the pope was discussing the situation in Italy. He expressed pleasure for all that has been done for the church and for religion in recent years, adding significantly "although we have been repaid only in part for damages sustained in the past."

Four prelates—three of them Italians, the fourth, the successor to St. Patrick in the Irish see of Armagh—were advanced to the cardinalate at a secret consistory.

The ceremonies were carried out in privacy in the consistorial hall. They were attended by solemn and color-

Child Run Down By T. R. Cheney Auto On Dresden Avenue

An unidentified girl, about five years of age, said to reside on the Campground road, suffered minor injuries at 6 o'clock Saturday night when struck by an automobile driven by T. R. Cheney, proprietor of a Peach alley auto top establishment, while crossing Dresden avenue.

The child, according to Cheney, stepped from behind a parked machine directly in the path of his car. He swerved the machine toward the curb in an attempt to avert the accident but the child was struck by one fender. The girl was placed in the automobile and taken to the office of Dr. W. N. Bailey and later removed home. She sustained a scalp laceration and a slight injury to her right leg.

COMPLETION OF U. S. PROSECUTION OF WAR FRAUD CASES IS IN SIGHT

By July 1, Attorney General Sargent Hopes to Clear Dockets and Abolish Section.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Completion of the government's prosecution of war frauds cases is at last in sight, nearly eight years after the end of the war, it was announced today.

By July 1, Attorney General Sargent hopes to have all claims and actions of the government against private business in such a condition that the war frauds section of the department of justice may be abolished.

A geenral campaign to clear court dockets and the war frauds section of the bulk of pending cases in the next six months has been started.

While a number of important suits cannot be adjusted before the end of the fiscal year, it will be possible to consolidate the war frauds section with a permanent division of the department of justice and administer the work at a great saving to the government.

On Sargent's recommendation the new budget, just submitted to congress, carries an appropriation of $250,000 for war frauds appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1927, compared with $1,000,000 appropriated for the present year.

"The probable consolidation and reduced appropriation does not mean war frauds prosecutions will cease until all pending cases have been set-

Nell Brinkley tells the American girl that love alone should be a lipstick, rouge box, dark pencil for the eyebrows, her maker generally.

Cupid lends a color to the cheek, brightness to the eye, that cannot be bought in any drug store.

Of all beauty the greatest, most perfect, is the beauty of health and goodness, good spirit, good morals, above all.

Let Cupid touch up your face, with his wonderful paint box of love and devotion, and you will not miss the lipstick, the rouge or the darkening for eyebrows or eyelashes.

A girl might paint and powder and "touch up" to the crack of doom. And she would only be a painted and powdered girl.

The girl in whose face a young man sees honest affection, loyalty and true love, possesses a beauty that lasts, wins, and is worth while.

There is no other beauty that amounts to anything in the opinion of a sensible young man.

Nathan Williams, a machine gun captain in the war, was praised for his courage under fire. He deserves a million times more praise, for his courage since the war.

For six years he has gone "through hell," as Senator Capper's paper puts it, on a hospital cot.

His bones were shattered by machine gun bullets, and bayonet wounds for he lived up to the motto of the fighting gunner: "A gunner never leaves his gun until he is ready for the grave."

Three Cases of Smallpox Develop During Week-end Among Children in Seventh and Eighth Grade.

Fearing spread of smallpox among children of the seventh and eighth grades of the Sixth street school building as a result of the development of three cases of the disease over the week-end, City Health Commissioner John A. Fraser today ordered all pupils of the two grades who had not been vaccinated to be dismissed from further classes.

Complying with the order, Principal A. C. Moore sent 12 boys and girls home, including only those who had not been vaccinated. Those, also, who had had smallpox in recent years were permitted to remain.

Pupils who were dismissed from school will be permitted to resume their studies immediately upon vaccination, the health commissioner announced. Otherwise they will be forced to remain away from classes for a period of 17 days.

Child Run Down By T. R. Cheney Auto On Dresden Avenue

An unidentified girl, about five years of age, said to reside on the Campground road, suffered minor injuries at 6 o'clock Saturday night when struck by an automobile driven by T. R. Cheney, proprietor of a Peach alley auto top establishment, while crossing Dresden avenue.

The child, according to Cheney, stepped from behind a parked machine directly in the path of his car. He swerved the machine toward the curb in an attempt to avert the accident but the child was struck by one fender. The girl was placed in the automobile and taken to the office of Dr. W. N. Bailey and later removed home. She sustained a scalp laceration and a slight injury to her right leg.

NO TRUTH IN REPORT POPE WILL LEAVE VATICAN; FOUR NEW CARDINALS NAMED

Three Italian Prelates and Successor to St. Patrick in Irish See of Armgh are Honored.

ROME, Dec. 14.—Pope Pius let it be known today that there is no truth in recent persistent reports that he is about to go outside the vatican enclosure.

The Holy Father made this declaration in the allocution which he delivered in connection with announcement of the creation of four new cardinals.

That he has not abandoned, and seems unlikely to abandon, the policy prevailing since 1870, whereby the pope imposes imprisonment on himself, was made clear when the pontiff deplored conditions which he said still compel him to remain within the vatican.

This assertion came while the pope was discussing the situation in Italy. He expressed pleasure for all that has been done for the church and for religion in recent years, adding significantly "although we have been repaid only in part for damages sustained in the past."

Four prelates—three of them Italians, the fourth, the successor to St. Patrick in the Irish see of Armagh—were advanced to the cardinalate at a secret consistory.

The ceremonies were carried out in privacy in the consistorial hall. They were attended by solemn and color-

FRED SEBRING, AGED 56, DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

Retired Pottery Plant Owner Stricken in His Home.

REALTY OPERATOR

Leaves Widow and Two Daughters; Funeral Plans in Abeyance.

Fred Sebring, 56, former resident of East Liverpool, and until a few years ago head of the Saxon China company, Sebring, died suddenly in his home in Sebring Sunday morning, following an attack of heart disease.

Mr. Sebring, who has been engaged in real estate operations in Florida and Sebring, since disposing of his pottery interests, had just returned from Florida, where he had been visiting. He was in his home about an hour when he collapsed and died before a physician could be summoned.

He, with his brothers, launched their pottery manufacturing business in 1895 in a plant which occupied the site of the Peter Milliron building at the corner of Second and Market streets, the plant being operated under the name of the Sebring China company.

Managed E. Palestine Pottery.

The company disposed of their East Liverpool holdings in 1900 when the first of the new plants at Sebring was erected. Fred Sebring went to East Palestine where he managed the Ohio China company's plant until about 1903 and 1904 when he moved to Sebring.

He was connected with the Saxon China company, which sold its interests to the French China company in 1917. He became interested in real-estate, maintaining his home in Sebring.

Mr. Sebring was a member of the Sebring lodge, Knights of Pythias, and was a charter member of the Sebring Rotary club.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Alliance, and Mrs. David McCalmont, of Sebring. Four brothers, C. H., George, E. H., and Frank Sebring, all of Sebring, and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Barclay, also of Sebring, and Mrs. Eva Norris, Pittsburgh, also survive.

Funeral arrangements are being held in abeyance, pending the return of three brothers, who have been spending the winter in Florida.

COMPLETION OF U. S. PROSECUTION OF WAR FRAUD CASES IS IN SIGHT

By July 1, Attorney General Sargent Hopes to Clear Dockets and Abolish Section.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Completion of the government's prosecution of war frauds cases is at last in sight, nearly eight years after the end of the war, it was announced today.

By July 1, Attorney General Sargent hopes to have all claims and actions of the government against private business in such a condition that the war frauds section of the department of justice may be abolished.

A geenral campaign to clear court dockets and the war frauds section of the bulk of pending cases in the next six months has been started.

While a number of important suits cannot be adjusted before the end of the fiscal year, it will be possible to consolidate the war frauds section with a permanent division of the department of justice and administer the work at a great saving to the government.

On Sargent's recommendation the new budget, just submitted to congress, carries an appropriation of $250,000 for war frauds appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1927, compared with $1,000,000 appropriated for the present year.

"The probable consoldidation and reduced appropriation does not mean war frauds prosecutions will cease until all pending cases have been set-

MISS BEATRICE MACHIN, 18, KNOCKED DOWN ON DARK STREET BY MAN

Unidentified Man Sinks Teeth Into Hand of Elmer Merchant Who Answers Victim's Appeal for Help.

STRANGER FLEES AFTER TUSSLE

Police Investigate Assault Which Occurs at Night as Girl is on Way to Ninth Street Home.

Police today were searching for an unidentified slugger, who is alleged to have attacked Miss Beatrice Machin, 18, pottery worker, near the West Ninth street Church of God, as she was on her way to her home at 10 o'clock Friday evening. The girl was knocked to the ground, but unharmed she ran in the direction of her home, only about two squares away.

Finds Girl's Assailant.

Girl, bordering on hysteria, after the attack, met Elmer Merchant, of Moore street, Y. & O. railroad freight agent, as she passed a confectionery on her way home. Answering her appeal for help, Merchant hurried to the scene of the slugging.

Merchant found the slugger hiding back of a barn in an alley leading off West Ninth street. He grasped him by the arm, intending to turn him over to the police.

The stranger resisted Merchant. In the tussle to free himself the slugger bit his captor on the hand. Merchant was forced to release his grip and the stranger fled down the dark alley in the direction of the Enterprise laundry, West Eighth street, and soon disappeared.

Police Search for Suspect.

Police were notified and Patrolman Lister and Turnkey William Cline responded. A search of the district was made, but no trace of the slugger could be found.

Miss Machin was not injured although she was in a nervous condition, due to fright.

Merchant believes he would be able to recognize the slugger. He was shabbily dressed, according to Merchant.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TWENTY-THREE.

That Sunday morning scene with Noble did not gain the ends that Laurel sought, but it did have one notable result. As usual Noble called her from the office Monday about 10 o'clock.

"How are you this morning, dear? . . . . Did you sleep well? . . . . . I have a 'crick' or something in my neck. Must have been in a draft or something. . . . . I have some news for you. I opened an account for you at the Central City National. I'll bring you a checkbook when I come home, or sent it out this morning, if you wish to go shopping. All that I ask is that you fill out the check stubs so that you'll always know how much you have on deposit and so forth. And don't give anybody a signed check with the amount left blank. . . . The total you now have is $10,000. I'll add to it as you need it. . . Oh, you needn't thank me. Goodbye, dear."

Laurel felt better now. At least she was to have some freedom in money matters. He would no doubt keep tab on her checks, but she didn't mind that. She had no desire to be extravagant with Noble Harwood's money, but as his wife she felt she ought to have some latitude in the management of domestic affairs. Still, she had no grounds for complaint on the score of stinginess. She needed only to speak, and whatever she wanted was hers—except responsibility in her home. Now, with a bank account, speaking wouldn't be necessary. Ten thousand dollars was as much as she would need to satisfy her own desires for a while. She tried to think of something she wanted to buy. The only thing that came to mind was clothes. She frowned. The precedent having been established in New York, no doubt Noble would always expect to be invited to accompany her when she bought dresses and things.

Reflection on the matter was depressing, and a feeling of loneliness assailed her. With no responsibility in the house, she was now daily finding time hanging heavily on her hands. Music, books, the garden, did not satisfy The longing to do something. Once or twice at this period she thought with pleasure that some time, perhaps, she would have an incentive to sew.

She went to the telephone and called Alice Kenwick. "Why haven't you been to see me? I've missed you terribly. You deserve a good shaking, young lady, because you've given me the cold shoulder. Can't you come over for luncheon?"

The answer was given hesitantly: "No, I'm going to Martha Lonn's—she has the Garden Club for luncheon today."

"I'll go with you. I'll come by for you."

"I'd be glad to have you go with me, Laurel, but you musn't take me in your car."

"Alice, I wish you would get over that foolishness of yours."

"I'm not going to argue with you about it, Laurel."

"Oh, all right. I'll walk. What time are you going?"

Laurel nonplussed Louis somewhat by telling him she didn't want the car when she appeared in the hall, dressed to go out. "And I won't be in for luncheon, Louis. If Mr. Harwood should call, you may tell him that I probably will return before five o'clock."

She felt curiously free as she stepped briskly down the winding walk to the gate, greeting Walter, the gardener, en route.

As she made her way toward Alice Kenwick's home, she was conscious of the stares of residents of "the Hill who rarely if ever saw a Harwood on foot in the streets.

There was much she had to say to Alice, and much she did say to her friends as they strode the six blocks to Martha Lonn's, until she noticed that there was a restraint in Alice's conversation.

"Alice Kenwick! What IS the matter with you? You're conducting yourself as if I were a stranger. I—" She frowned impatiently. "I thought you would always be my friend."

"Oh, Laurel, you know people will say that I'm sticking in, if I go with you. If my people were rich, like Martha Lonn's or Gloria Baird's or Ileana Wales, it would be different."

"They're all sticks, Alice! Listen, dear, people know we've been friends for years. Oh, Alice, is seems so unnatural to be talking to you like this There's no one I care for like you. Don't make me hate you by forcing me to beg you to—."

The appearance of Pauline Swann, also bound for the Garden club's luncheon, cut short Laurel's protest. For a few minutes the three of them chatted concentionally, as they progressed toward the Lonn house, then silence overtook them, a silence that made Laurel self-conscious. She was in the mood to turn back. However, she did not.

There was, she noticed, this same air of reserve about the attitude of the girls at the luncheon. Was she being punished for discarding the dictates of convention by marrying an old man? She was relieved when she departed with Alice, her heart heavy. She was not in the mood to talk much. So they walked along with but little to say, until they were halted by a familiar hail that startled Laurel. Wyman Holt stopped his car at the curb alongside them.

"Going your way," he called. Laurel's impulse was to flee. Alice looked at her for assent.

"If YOU want to, Alice,' she said, in a low voice, and immediately regretted leaving it up to her companion.

"Yes," said Alice, smiling at Wyman, pulling Laurel toward the car. They got in the rear seat.

"Where to?" he asked, looking Laurel in the eyes.

"Why—to Alice's."

"No, you musn't come in," her companion protested. "They're painting and papering, and everything is torn up. You'd better have Wyman drop you off at your home."

Laurel thought of directing him to her mother's house, but a hasty glance at her wrist watch—five o'clock—caused her to abandon this idea. There was nothing left to do. "I suppose you'd better drive me home, Wyman." His smile annoyed her. Of course he was thinking of her ultimatum to him.

She hoped that Noble or Marion would not see them. Fate ruled otherwise. Wyman Holt's car and the Harwood limousine, occupied by Noble and his daughter, arrived at the entrance to Harwood house simultaneously, and the limousine followed Holt's rakish sport model up the winding driveway.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

Another World's Fair

Chicago is planning another World's Fair, to be held in 1934 or 1937. The dates are significant in Chicago's own history. The earlier date is said to be the semi-centennial anniversary of her incorporation as a village, and the latter, of her city charter.

All the world remembers Chicago's great fair of 1884. That definitely established the Windy City's reputation as a hustling community and a dynamic trade center. It also set a standard for subsequent exhibitions which has hardly been equalled yet. It rests with the new, great, marvelous city on Lake Michigan, halfway station between East and West and gateway of continental traffic from the four points of the compass, to beat her own record. She may be depended on to do that.

The setting of this new exposition will be impressive. The present plan is to place it on the city's reconstructed lake front, between the beach and the skyscrapers, partly on the mainland and partly on the string of islands reaching southward from Grant Park to Jackson Park. That would give the fair itself a remarkable stage for display, and would also show advantageously to fair patrons the grandeur that is Chicago's.

It is time for more of these great national expositions. There should be other cities getting ready to follow Chicago's example.

Students On Football

There is a lot of discussion lately, for and ferninst, regarding college football. Possibly what the college men themselves think about it is more important than what other people think. They are the ones chiefly affected, and they are in position to know best its good and bad features.

A group of leading students of several eastern colleges, meeting in conference, express themselves in this fashion.

"We're not in college to be grinds, but we are in college, after all, to sharpen out wits and live not entirely on the sporting pages, and acquire a sense of proportion about life as we shall probably live it. For the whole fall term, and for part of the rest of the year, football makes us live from Saturday to Saturday in a sideshow of $100,000 gates, imported betting touts, perfervid enthusiasm solely on one subject, and semi-professional right guards. We object to overdoing it."

Which is to say, they simply seek the "golden mean" that is supposed to be the rule of trained minds. And they are not merely academic about it. They propose these concrete reforms:

They would stop paying coaches several times as much as professors.

They would keep coaches out of the games.

They would have only about four games with other colleges in a season.

They would play with teams of their own class and section, avoiding general competition and the lure of championships.

The "old grads" might not like this. But colleges, as undergraduates might suggest oftener than they do, are not run altogether for the vain glory of old grads.

No Waterway Rivalry

A big drive is being started to promote the development of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf water route. There are so many fine things about this project that it deserves widespread attention. It seems wise and reasonable that the Mississippi and its larger tributaries should be developed and maintained as a navigable transportation system. It is essential, however, that this project should be carried out in such a way that it will not harm any section of the counutry in order to benefit another.

In connecting the Mississippi waterway with the Great Lakes, capable and farsighted engineers should be consulted, men who will not let one vision obscure all others. It has already been said that this route can be developed without taking from the Great Lakes system anywhere near so much water as Chicago is demanding. If the Great Lakes system, already carrying the biggest fresh water commerce in the world, were harmed in order to create this Mississippi waterway, the vision of prosperity would be short-lived in its fulfillment. Each should supplement the other—not interfere with the other.

The development of greater power and transportation systems along all of America's mighty waterways is necessary, but it is essential that the good of the whole be considered in the development of any section. The good of one section cannot be sacrificed for the enrichment of another. Sectional prejudices must be dropped and broad national vision take its place if the fullest goo dis to be derived from development of our great waterway possibilities. It is not a matter for bitter rivalry but for intelligent co-operation.

It seems to be a law of nature that the debtor who wants to pay finds, in some miraculous manner, the means of paying.

Some of our best non-stop flights have been made by pedestrians crossing the street.

An English court convicts a murderer and sentences him to death in four minutes. Why add anything to that sentence?

See what an international security conference did for Locarno. Why not invite a disarmament conference here?

If what some folks say about beauty and brains is true, we might spell it "dumb-belle."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Awake betimes and walked toward the Hudson, meeting an actor, a crafty coxcomb from toe to toe, and his silly vanities amused me not a little, especially when he said he thought of hiding in the woods to get away from ladies.

To breakfast with Frazier Hunt, the pamphleteer, and his son Master Bob who has grown to be a fine lad; recalled a frolic we had one day in Hyde Park in London. And how we made the parrot yell "Fire!" in ye olde Cheshire Cheese.

Home, where came Amon Carter and Bud Walker, the turfman, and we excnanged a few gay stories. Then to labour awhile and later with my wife in the brave moonshine to stroll in Central Park. So home tired and to bed.

Brass Town is a section lying between Delancy and Canal streets. It is here candle sticks, ash trays, bowls and fire sets are pounded out for uptown consumption—and a few antique stores. It is a Ghetto neighborhood with wigged women and bearded old men in skull caps. The drone of many hammers floats from cellars and dingy stores. Sunday is the big day for brass sellers and push cart merchants whose lusty cries add to the incessant din. Bargains are there—huge brass water pitchers for three dollars, Russian coffee pots for two dollars and monster brass trays for six dollars. Of course, the shopper must "bargain" but tradesmen enjoy keen bartering. Entire families live in little cellar shops. The section is pungent with the odor of brass. Stores in some instances remain open until after midnight.

In the same district is boiling Allen street where one sees furtive faces in night gloom—scarred Sicilians with rings in their ears, beetle-browed men with undershot jaws, blonde Russians, slinking Chinese, turbaned Lascans and beady-eyed Turks. There is a sinister flavor about the street with its faint globules of light. Rupert Hughes once spoke of it in a novel as the most terrible street in the city.

Not all white-haired ladies smoke cigarettes gracefully. One tried it in a two-toned tea room the other evening and turned a faint sea green. "Anyway," she said weakly, "it was fun watching a revolving table."

Visitors to New York are soon caught up in its robust rush. Those accustomed to what we used to call "moseying along" find themselves walking at the speed of a commuter late for the 5.15. The contagion of speed is in the air and a man on a casual stroll takes on appearance of rushing to a fire. A Parisian journalist once described home-going crowds on Forty-second street with: "They seemed to be running. If they stopped to buy newspapers they snatched them and hurried on."

Promenading Fifth avenue: A man with a quill toothpick behind his ear and another with a toothbrush in his vest pocket.

A noted boulevardier nearing chimney corner oblivion decided to add a touch of youthfulness with a facial operation. He went to a hospital where parafine was injected to puff out a few wrinkles. At the end of ten days he was released with a changed face. He celebrated with cronies and wound up in a Turkish bath. The heat set up a sort of chemicalization and the parafine declined to jell. In a warm room now his face begins to sag like a slowing deflating balloon.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Grazing on Forest Lands.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—Live stock owners who range almost 2,000,000 cattle and more than three times that number of sheep on the grazing lands in the national forests will not be permitted to acquire any vested rights in their grazing permits if congress follows the recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine. Presumptively the secretary expresses the views of the Coolidge administration.

Cattle men and sheep men have been making a hard drive to secure changes in the grazing system and they have been keenly interested in the stand that Secretary Jardine would take. They have maintained that what they have asked for is vital to the live stock industry, and they emphasize its importance to the general public by pointing out that there are some 31,000 of them who use the lands in the national forests under the permit system, their herds and flocks representing 20 per cent of the cattle and 28 per cent of the sheep in 11 western states.

The chief objection to the permit system as it has been devedoped is the uncertainty that surrounds the stockman's use of the range. He can never tell when his permit will be modified, the size of his herd reduced, or his grazing fees increased. The stockmen insist that they should have clearly defined rights in the use of the public grazing lands which they can maintain in court, if necessary, and which would be a transferable asset. Moreover, they contend that the government should not charge them fees comparable with established grazing fees on private lands, but only what it costs to administer the grazing system.

Some of the stockmen go much further, according to Secretary Jardine, asking for some form of permanent or vested property right acquired by past use of the range in connection with local ranches dependent upon pasturage in the national forests for their economic utility. This viewpoint, says the secretary, is the outgrowth of a sense of proprietorship in the national forest ranges by virtue of pioneer settlement, and carried to its logical conclusion would exclude from the forest range any new user, settler, or live stock producer of the future, except as the grazing preferences of the present user might lapse or be acquired through purchase.

Grazing Legislation Desirable.

Secretary Jardine believes that the production of live stock has a permanent and valuable place in the national forests and that every reasonable form of security should be given the live stock producer in making the most advantageous use of this public resource. He says, however, that any program for stabilizing grazing as a permanent feature of the national forests must square with the general interests of the public on certain points which he regards as vital to the whole conception and plan of conserving natural resources.

"In the first place," says the head of the Department of Agriculture in his annual report, "the use of the range must be subject to such control and adjustment as may be necessary to conserve and protect all of the resources in the national forests, including the forage itself, and this protection must be afforded through the direct supervision of the agencies responsible for the administration of the national forests as a whole. In the second place, although the stabilization of range use should be a primary feature of the policy, reasonable leeway must be retained for meeting the requirements of new settlement or land development where called for by the principle of the greatest public benefit. And in the third place, I believe that the use of the forage must rest upon a clean business basis of dealing with the public, with fair compensation for the value of the resource utilized, reasonably adjusted to current economic conditions in the live stock industry.

"Vested property rights in national forest range can not be harmonized with these requirements.

"I favor a provision of law that will authorize firm contracts or licenses for periods of ten years, to be binding upon the government as long as their conditions are met, and under which the requirements to be observed by the range users, possible reductions in numbers of live stock, and the provision for grazing fees shall be specifically set forth. Legislation of this nature will place the use of the national forest ranges on the same footing of legal recognition and specific contract relations which now exist in the utilization of timber."

Fees That Are Now Charged.

Fees now charged, which were based roughly upon range values prevailing in the western states in 1916, average approximately 12 cents per head per month for cattle and 3 cents per head for month for sheep.

The department contends that while the grazing fees paid on some of the national forests have been equal to or in excess of the actual value of the forage, on the ranges as a whole the present fees are less than the well established value of similar private lands by at least 75 per cent. During the present year fees that were found excessive were reduced, involving a loss to the government in revenue of $46,600 annually.

Secretary Jardine favors a plan that would give the stock men a great deal to say in the regulation of grazing on the forest ranges, but he is insistent that there should be

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting regularity for weeks and often for months—or must you "purge" and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, billousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

One dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Grazing Legislation Desirable.

Secretary Jardine believes that the production of live stock has a permanent and valuable place in the national forests and that every reasonable form of security should be given the live stock producer in making the most advantageous use of this public resource. He says, however, that any program for stabilizing grazing as a permanent feature of the national forests must square with the general interests of the public on certain points which he regards as vital to the whole conception and plan of conserving natural resources.

"In the first place," says the head of the Department of Agriculture in his annual report, "the use of the range must be subject to such control and adjustment as may be necessary to conserve and protect all of the resources in the national forests, including the forage itself, and this protection must be afforded through the direct supervision of the agencies responsible for the administration of the national forests as a whole. In the second place, although the stabilization of range use should be a primary feature of the policy, reasonable leeway must be retained for meeting the requirements of new settlement or land development where called for by the principle of the greatest public benefit. And in the third place, I believe that the use of the forage must rest upon a clean business basis of dealing with the public, with fair compensation for the value of the resource utilized, reasonably adjusted to current economic conditions in the live stock industry.

"Vested property rights in national forest range can not be harmonized with these requirements.

"I favor a provision of law that will authorize firm contracts or licenses for periods of ten years, to be binding upon the government as long as their conditions are met, and under which the requirements to be observed by the range users, possible reductions in numbers of live stock, and the provision for grazing fees shall be specifically set forth. Legislation of this nature will place the use of the national forest ranges on the same footing of legal recognition and specific contract relations which now exists in the utilization of timber."

Fees That Are Now Charged.

Fees now charged, which were based roughly upon range values prevailing in the western states in 1916, average approximately 12 cents per head per month for cattle and 3 cents per head for month for sheep.

The department contends that while the grazing fees paid on some of the national forests have been equal to or in excess of the actual value of the forage, on the ranges as a whole the present fees are less than the well established value of similar private lands by at least 75 per cent. During the present year fees that were found excessive were reduced, involving a loss to the government in revenue of $46,600 annually.

Secretary Jardine favors a plan that would give the stock men a great deal to say in the regulation of grazing on the forest ranges, but he is insistent that there should be

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative -Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting regularity for weeks and often for months—or must you "purge" and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

One dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Why Is This Boy a Killer?

Investigators have been unable to find anything to indicate an abnormal twist of mind, in the family history, boyhood or school record of Gordon Pirie, New York youth who slew his best friend, George Nye, Jr. His average in school was 85. His preferred reading was Dickens, and he knew nothing about the Loeb-Leopold case.

The chorus singing, under the direction of W. A. Macdonald, choir director, was excellent. Mrs. J. C. Calhoun, at the organ, presented several pleasing numbers.

After a prelude, "Andante and Scherzo," Dethier, by Mrs. Calhoun, the program opened with an anthem, "The Inflamatus," from the Stabet Mator, Mrs. Sauber singing the obligato in superb style. The second number was a tenor and baritone duet, "Watchman, What of the Night?" by Sargant, was sung by Mr. Coullie and Mr. Parland, whose voices were heard to advantage in this selection. The chorus, "Almighty God," by Mascagni, which was the next in the program, was well received.

DONAHEY ASKS BAN ON LOGAN GAS CO. RATES

Governor Calls for Suspension of Higher Charges.

SENDS LETTER

Utilities Commission Expected to Grant Request.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14.—Gov. Vic Donahey today asked the State Utilities commission to suspend the schedule of increased rates which the Logan Gas Company planned to put into effect beginning at midnight tonight in approximately seventy-two municipalities and districts throughout Ohio.

Indications were that the commission will comply with the governor's request and that an order suspending these proposed rates will be issued by the commission today.

The governor told the commission that "there are many small towns and communities whose interests have been neglected (in the matter of protesting against the proposed rates) and whose rate will be raised on December 15, unless you take the necessary action of suspension."

"It does mean, however, that the department will be able to continue the work effectively and press it to a termination without the big staff that has been required in the past two years."

During the operation of the war frauds section about $10,250,000 has been collected by the government from contractors and others who carried out war projects. In this period more than $2,200,000 has been expended for maintenance of the work.

Remaining on the docket for solution are several important civil cases and a few criminal actions. Thirteen cantonment suits in which are involved probably $70,000,000, await decisions in the federal courts.

Pending cases were described as in three classes:

1.—Production contracts, embracing erection of camps, munitions factories, industrial plants and the purchase of supplies.

2.—Settlement contracts, involving adjudication of claims, made by the government as a result of cancellation of agreements entered into during the war for supplies not required after the armistice.

3.—Sale of surplus war materials, including industrial plants, millions of dollars worth of which were held by the government after the war.

Many important cases are under investigation and it is probable that suits will be instituted within the next few months. A decision in the action against the Dayton Airplane Company, tried in the federal court at Cincinnati, and outcome of the appeal of the Dusenberg Motors-Willys corporation case, will govern action of the government in instituting proceedings in other aircraft suits.

The aircraft cases were instituted as test actions. The district court decision in the Dusenberg case was unfavorable to the government and it was taken to a high court.

Berlin Chiet Asks Dr. Koch to Form Coalition Cabinet

Democratic Party Leader Accepts Hindenburg Charge After Former Premier Fehrenbach, Centrist, Declines.

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—President Hindenburg today charged Dr. Erich Koch, leader of the Democratic party, with the responsibility of forming a cabinet, based upon a great coalition. Dr. Koch accepted the task.

The invitation to Dr. Koch came after former Premier Fehrenbach had declined, as leader of the Centrist party, on grounds that he could not act against the decision of the Catholic Centrists not to permit one of their number to be chosen as premier.

Dr. Koch, who was formerly minister of the interior, had been expected to refuse the task and his acceptance was somewhat in the nature of a surprise.

Due to the indefiniteness of the program of the great coalition the chances of Dr. Koch having success in forming a cabinet are more or less questionable. His efforts are being watched with great interest.

Dr. Koch was Lord Mayor of Cassel when his political career started. He was elected to the Weimar National Assembly in 1919 and became minister of interior of the Bauer cabinet. He retained this post under successive chancellorships of Herr Mueller and Fehrenbach, but declined the post in the Wirth cabinet. He then became leader of the Democratic party.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Narrow price changes, with industrial stocks and a few of the rails inclined slightly higher, while oil and equipment stocks continued under selling pressure, marked the early trading in the New York market today. Many of last week's buoyant leaders were freely supplied at a slightly lower price range in this period. Motor stocks, after a higher level of values at the opening, declined a few points and reacted to below Saturday's closing prices. The market appeared to be in a sold-out condition, particularly in stocks which could not boast of strong pool backing.

Week-end industrial and business reports disclosed nothing of special importance, except that retail business was fulfilling expectations, and that in all probability an easier money market was in prospect after the middle of this week. Further withdrawals of gasoline from storage in Mid-Continent was in larger volume than expected and railroad traffic reports showed the continuation of a high rate of domestic business. Call loans were renewed at 5 per cent.

American Can's new aggressive forward movement, which brought the price of the stock to above its former high record of 263, was easily the feature of the industrial shares. In sharp contrast was the new decline in American Woolen. Foundation company moved up briskly to 153¾ for a four-point gain. Federal Light & Traction, Bush Terminal and Allis-Chalmers were pushed forward by their respective pools to new high prices on the movement. Good buying continued in the public utility stocks, under the lead of Consolidated Gas. The railroad shares were lifeless, with the exception of Atlantic Coast Line and a few of the northwestern rails. Murray Body staged a modest comeback and reached 9¾ on the recovery. Most of the outside markets were irregular.

NYE, BOB CASES BEFORE SENATE

Seek to Clear Decks For World Court Fight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The senate election committee today adopted a report recommending that Senator-designate Gerald P. Nye, (R.) of North Dakota, be denied his seat.

The report declared that Governor Sorlie of North Dakota had no legal authority to appoint Nye.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—With harmony as their keynote, administration leaders sought to clear the senate's decks today for the approaching world court fight by immediate settlement of the La Follette and Nye cases.

The question of giving young Bob La Follette the Republican committee assignments, denied his father last March, was expected to be amicably answered by the Republican committee on committees this afternoon without further fuss or feathers.

There were indications young La Follette will be given places on most of the committees on which his father served. These assignments were favored by Republican leaders because of young Bob's familiarity with their activities through long association with the elder La Follette.

The seating of Senator-designate Gerald P. Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, however, is a more difficult problem for administration leaders to solve. A wide divergence of views split the senate into two groups regardless of party lines and the senate itself must render the final verdict. The case probably will be reported to the senate during the day by the elections committee with a recommendation that Nye be denied his seat. A majority of the committee, including all Republicans and several Democrats, was said to feel that Governor Sorlie of North Dakota was without authority to appoint Nye.

As soon as he can build up strength enough to stand it, he must have his twenty-eighth operation.

Although only thirty-seven years old, Williams looks 50. He might well look 150, after all the agony, the ether, and torture that he has endured.

But still he smiles.

And this man is paid by the war department, by a "grateful nation," after enduring all this suffering, just exactly $49 per month.

He was only an "emergency officer," not a regular one.

His "emergency" ended when the government was safe, and he, riddled with bayonet and bullet holes, was retired without pay. He gets the $49 from the Veterans' bureau, and in addition to that he gets "living hell" at the hands of surgeons doing their best to keep him alive.

This man knows what war is.

Senator Capper of Kansas reminds American farmers that this nation should keep out of war, out of European entanglements, out of the league of nations and world court, out of the stupid idea that it is our duty to go over there, get shot, and squander our billions because they can't keep from cutting one another's throats.

And this soldier's case should make the farmers write to their congressman, their senators, and to the President himself, demanding the construction of an adequate air fleet to keep this country safe when the next war comes.

Ten years ago Lloyd George stood between Britain and defeat by the Germans

He supplied the money, manufactured the ammunition, forced the adoption of a unified command of the armies. He is the man that won the war. Three-quarters of the Englishmen have forgotten it; they never liked him very much, anyhow.

But British historians a hundred years hence will do him justice, and show that he saved the British empire and put the kaiser in Holland.

They say that republics are ungrateful; monarchies also.

WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Car Plunges Over Wellsville-Salineville Road Embankment.

Mrs. Ernest E. Foster, colored, of 220 East Third street, was cut about the face and head by broken glass when her husband's automobile plunged over a six-foot embankment on the Wellsville-Salineville road, about four miles east of Salineville, at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster had driven to the end of the new road and were on their way home when the accident occurred. Foster, at the wheel, attempted to pass another car traveling in the same direction. He says he sounded his horn and the driver in front of him pulled off to one side of the road. Just as his automobile pulled alongside of the first car, the driver is said to have swerved his machine back into the center of the road. Foster, in an effort to avoid the crash, swung his car and it plunged off the road.

Lester Cawood, of this city, brought Mrs. Foster to the City hospital, where she was attended by Dr. R. J. Marshall. Her condition is not serious. The machine, with the front axle bent and bumper wrecked, was driven to Wellsville under its own power and then brought to East Liverpool by the McElravy wrecker.

Champ Fiddler Given $3 Gold Piece By Ford; Goes to East

Motor King Escorts Mellie Dunham and His Wife, "Gram," to Train for Trip to New York.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—Treasuring $3 in gold presented to him by Henry Ford, Mellie Dunham, champ fiddler of the state of Maine, and his wife, "Gram," were enroute east today to be guests of A. S. Measury, official of a large New York city trucking company.

Mellie's waltz, "Rippling Waves," the strains of which delighted the motor king, was recorded and is to be distributed to churches and schools throughout the country.

Ford went down to the depot last night to see the Dunhams off. Ford went right into the train with the old down east couple who had been his guest since Tuesday and saw to it that they were comfortably settled in their compartment. The motor king had a word with the conductor about Mellie and Gram, reminding that functionary that this was the first long trip away from home in all their three score years of life. The conductor said he would keep an eye on them.

Mellie collected the $3 in gold for playing Friday night at Ford's old fashioned dance at Dearborn. When Mellie plays for a dance in his home village of Norway, Maine, he charges only $1.50, but when he goes out of town it costs $3.

Ford heard about the fiddler's rates and started hunting for a $3 gold piece. It took the richest man in the world three days to get what he wanted.

"I knew I had that gold piece somewhere around the house," Ford told reporters at the depot, "but we had to ransack every thing to find it."

DONAHEY ASKS BAN ON LOGAN GAS CO. RATES

Governor Calls for Suspension of Higher Charges.

SENDS LETTER

Utilities Commission Expected to Grant Request.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14.—Gov. Vic Donahey today asked the State Utilities commission to suspend the schedule of increased rates which the Logan Gas Company planned to put into effect beginning at midnight tonight in approximately seventy-two municipalities and districts throughout Ohio.

Indications were that the commission will comply with the governor's request and that an order suspending these proposed rates will be issued by the commission today.

The governor told the commission that "there are many small towns and communities whose interests have been neglected (in the matter of protesting against the proposed rates) and whose rate will be raised on December 15, unless you take the necessary action of suspension."

JIGGS COMING TO CERAMIC

"Bringing Up Father" Musical Comedy Here Saturday.

After a long and successful run at the Lyric Theatre, New York, a Broadway showhouse where the best of attractions are offered, "Bringing Up Father in Gay New York," and the entire Mahoney clan will be the presentation at the Ceramic theatre, Saturday matinee and night. Those who have already seen this latest version of the famous George McManus cartoon creations pronounce it as the best of the series up to date. Of course, Jiggs, Maggie and Dinty Moore will be very much in evidence. What would a "Father" entertainment be without them? Then there will be a dominating and exceptionally captivating usual bevy of pretty young women, trained beauties capable of finding favor on their own account in any environment anywhere. Music that lingers, laughter that adds to the delight of living and singing and dancing that long will be remembered after the proceedings are over and enjoyed.

FOE OF ACCUSED

Attacks Count of "Almost Treasonable Administration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who was challenged and relieved as president of the Col. William Mitchell court-martial, came back to the trial as a witness today to attack the flying colonel's charges that the war and navy departments were guilty of "almost treasonable administration" of aviation.

After being driven off the court by the defense, Summerall, rushed to the war department and issued a caustic statement declaring that "in the future Mitchell and I are enemies."

NYE, BOB CASES BEFORE SENATE

Seek to Clear Decks For World Court Fight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The senate election committee today adopted a report recommending that Senator-designate Gerald P. Nye, (R.) of North Dakota, be denied his seat.

The report declared that Governor Sorlie of North Dakota has no legal authority to appoint Nye.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—With harmony as their keynote, administration leaders sought to clear the senate's decks today for the approaching world court fight by immediate settlement of the La Follette and Nye cases.

The question of giving young Bob La Follette the Republican committee assignments, denied his father last March, was expected to be amicably answered by the Republican committee on committees this afternoon without further fuss or feathers.

There were indications young La Follette will be given places on most of the committees on which his father served. These assignments were favored by Republican leaders because of young Bob's familiarity with their activities through long association with the elder La Follette.

The seating of Senator-designate Gerald P. Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, however, is a more difficult problem for administration leaders to solve. A wide divergence of views split the senate into two groups regardless of party lines and the senate itself must render the final verdict. The case probably will be reported to the senate during the day by the elections committee with a recommendation that Nye be denied his seat. A majority of the committee, including all Republicans and several Democrats, was said to feel that Governor Sorlie of North Dakota was without authority to appoint Nye.

borne an operation in the effort to check the process of disintegration going on inside the marrow of his bones.

As soon as he can build up strength enough to stand it, he must have his twenty-eighth operation.

Although only thirty-seven years old, Williams looks 50. He might well look 150, after all the agony, the ether, and torture that he has endured.

But still he smiles.

And this man is paid by the war department, by a "grateful nation," after enduring all this suffering, just exactly $49 per month.

He was only an "emergency officer," not a regular one.

His "emergency" ended when the government was safe, and he, riddled with bayonet and bullet holes, was retired without pay. He gets the $49 from the Veterans' bureau, and in addition to that he gets "living hell" at the hands of surgeons doing their best to keep him alive.

This man knows what war is.

Senator Capper of Kansas reminds American farmers that this nation should keep out of war, out of European entanglements, out of the league of nations and world court, out of the stupid idea that it is our duty to go over there, get shot, and squander our billions because they can't keep from cutting one another's throats.

And this soldier's case should make the farmers write to their congressman, their senators, and to the President himself, demanding the construction of an adequate air fleet to keep this country safe when the next war comes.

Ten years ago Lloyd George stood between Britain and defeat by the Germans

He supplied the money, manufactured the ammunition, forced the adoption of a unified command of the armies. He is the man that won the war. Three-quarters of the Englishmen have forgotten it; they never liked him very much, anyhow.

But British historians a hundred years hence will do him justice, and show that he saved the British empire and put the kaiser in Holland.

They say that republics are ungrateful; monarchies also.

WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Car Plunges Over Wellsville-Salineville Road Embankment.

Mrs. Ernest E. Foster, colored, of 220 East Third street, was cut about the face and head by broken glass when her husband's automobile plunged over a six-foot embankment on the Wellsville-Salineville road, about four miles east of Salineville, at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster had driven to the end of the new road and were on their way home when the accident occurred. Foster, at the wheel, attempted to pass another car traveling in the same direction. He says he sounded his horn and the driver in front of him pulled off to one side of the road. Just as his automobile pulled alongside of the first car, the driver is said to have swerved his machine back into the center of the road. Foster, in an effort to avoid the crash, swung his car and it plunged off the road.

Lester Cawood, of this city, brought Mrs. Foster to the City hospital, where she was attended by Dr. R. J. Marshall. Her condition is not serious. The machine, with the front axle bent and bumper wrecked, was driven to Wellsville under its own power and then brought to East Liverpool by the McElravy wrecker.

Champ Fiddler Given $3 Gold Piece By Ford; Goes to East

Motor King Escorts Mellie Dunham and His Wife, "Gram," to Train for Trip to New York.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—Treasuring $3 in gold presented to him by Henry Ford, Mellie Dunham, champ fiddler of the state of Maine, and his wife, "Gram," were enroute east today to be guests of A. S. Measury, official of a large New York city trucking company.

Mellie's waltz, "Rippling Waves," the strains of which delighted the motor king, was recorded and is to be distributed to churches and schools throughout the country.

Ford went down to the depot last night to see the Dunhams off. Ford went right into the train with the old down east couple who had been his guest since Tuesday and saw to it that they were comfortably settled in their compartment. The motor king had a word with the conductor about Mellie and Gram, reminding that functionary that this was the first long trip away from home in all their three score years of life. The conductor said he would keep an eye on them.

Mellie collected the $3 in gold for playing Friday night at Ford's old fashioned dance at Dearborn. When Mellie plays for a dance in his home village of Norway, Maine, he charges only $1.50, but when he goes out of town it costs $3.

Ford heard about the fiddler's rates and started hunting for a $3 gold piece. It took the richest man in the world three days to get what he wanted.

"I knew I had that gold piece somewhere around the house," Ford told reporters at the depot, "but we had to ransack every thing to find it."

"Winds of Chance," Rex Beach Story, At The American

"Winds of Chance," Rex Beach's story of the Alaskan gold rush, picturized for First National by Frank Lloyd, creator of "Black Oxen," "The Sea Hawk" and other memorable screen hits, is the feature offering at the American theatre three days, commencing today.

The new Lloyd picture is said to represent not only the most accurate drama of Alaskan life ever made, but is enacted by a cast the like of which has seldom, if ever, been seen in a single attraction heretofore.

More than five months were required to obtain the atmospheric backgrounds of Alaska during four different seasons, and Lloyd and his players traveled more than 13,000 miles to reproduce the scenic splendor of our last frontier. The cameras obtained scenes in rain and snow storms, on river beds and frozen lakes and glaciers, and even at the summit of snow-capped peaks high above the clouds.

Dawson City, the goal of thousands of sourdoughs in 1897 and 1898, was completely reproduced for one sequence of the play as well as other famous points along the rail from Dyea—Sheep Camp, the Summit, [illegible] derman, Dyea, White Horse, M[illegible] Canyon and Chilkoot Pass, the m[illegible] high granite barrier between the [illegible]cific and the opper Yukon.

Motor vehicles destined for Vien[illegible] are assessed $86 each if taken throu[illegible] Trieste and $200 if taken through G[illegible]many or other continental ports.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting.

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonardt tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent. and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from C. G. Anderson today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

METHODIST PROTESTANT basketballers achieved their second church league victory of the season Saturday night on the "Y" court when they nosed out the Christian quint, 25 to 21.

The scrap was close all the way, the M. P. outfit having an edge in the first half and losing it in the second. Inaccuracy and lack of teamwork handicapped the Christians.

The M. P. five took the lead at the start, counting six points before the Christians found the hoop. The M. P.'s kept the lead through the half, the count being 18 to 7 when hostilities ceased for the intermission.

With Reese in the lineup in the concluding half, the Christians showed a decided form reversal but the lead piled up by the opposition was too much to overcome.

LISBON QUINT HERE TONIGHT

Clash With Power Five on I. O. O. F. Court

After winning seven consecutive games this season, the Power basketball five will battle something a little stronger than the opposition they have encountered thus far when they take on the Lisbon Dodge Motors tonight at the Odd Fellows.

The contest is the first independent engagement of the year for local cage fans and, as a result, a capacity house is expected.

On Wednesday night Manager Geren will take his Power five to Columbiana where they will assist the Miller Brothers in their lid-lifting ceremonies.

In a preliminary to the main go tonight at the Odd Fellows, the fair sex will claim the spotlight, the Lisbon High Selects being billed to play against the East Liverpool Selects. The local lineup includes Misses Grace McConnell, Clarice Imbrie, Helen Imbrie, Hannah Corns and Nellie Gilliland.

SLIM BROMBY MOUNT VET

Reports for Practice With Bob Wright's Quint.

Over at Alliance, Coach Bob Wright is rounding his Mount Union basketeers, Ohio conference champions, into shape for their opening game of the present season Tuesday, Dec. 22, with Slippery Rock Normal at Alliance. He has four of last winter's letter men on the squad, Captain Bo Laber, ex-Captain Lefty Miller, Red Bromby of East Liverpool and George Wilcoxon. These men were members of the team which went through last season's schedule and didn't lose a game, and Miller and Laber were members of the team the year before which went through the season and lost only the final game to Oberlin.

Besides these four, Wright has several of last year's subs in Burkle, guard; Mills, forward; Orr, forward, and Ball, guard. Harvey, who played a stellar game at end on this year's football team, may find a berth and another good prospect is Johnny Roth, who was quite a flash when he played on the Alliance high quintet several years ago. Wright has cut the original squad of 30 down to 14 men and some of these will be dropped as the season progresses.

After the opening game with Slippery Rock, Mount Union tackles Ashland on the Purple floor in a non-conference clash on January 8. This is followed by a practice game with Firestone Tires at the Rubber City. Then comes the first conference game, Wooster at Wooster on January 16. Three days later the Methodists meet Hiram on the Hiram floor and on January 22 Baldwin-Wallace comes to Alliance.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Professional hockey will have its local debut at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night and New York today was preparing to do itself proud with a series of elaborate ceremonies to commemorate the occasion. The Royal Foot Guards band, of Montreal, was scheduled to arrive here today to head a parade of Canadians to city hall where the visitors were to be received officially by Mayor Hylan. Some 1,500 visitors were expected tomorrow for the game, which will be contested between the New York club and Les Canadiens of Montreal, last year's league champions.

Following the contest, a dinner and ball to the rival teams will be given by the Canadian club of New York at the Hotel Biltmore. The West Point band will join the Royal Foot Guards in furnishing music for the occasion.

Veterans Figure in Major League Swaps At Recent Sessions

Veterans galore have figured in the baseball market during the session of the major leagues here.

As to the younger players, Detroit has obtained Homer Ezzell, third baseman, and Ernest Vache, outfielder, from the Red Sox and then sent them to Fort Worth for Billy Mullen, infielder, and Gus Johns, pitcher. Detroit traded Fred Haney, third baseman, to Boston in the deal.

The Cleveland Indians sent the veteran Chick Fewster to Kansas City and the Philadelphia Nationals sold Chicken Hawks, first-baseman, to Newark of the International.

GRANGE TO PLAY IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14.—Positive assurance that Red Grange will play in the professional game next Saturday here in which the Cleveland Bulldogs meet the Chicago Bears was received by the local club here today. George Halas, manager of the Bears, said there was nothing seriously wrong with Grange's arm, but that he needed a complete rest for a few days.

Pity the Weak Skinny Children

Nature's greatest health builder and strength giver is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamines of the first class—every one knows that.

But pity the poor children—how can they take this nasty, nauseating stuff that invariably upsets their small, delicate stomachs?

Most of them can't and now—thank goodness—none of them have to.

For now Cod Liver Oil comes in tasteless sugar coated tablets, that are as easy for the kids to take as candy and they sure do build up the youngsters in double quick time.

So mothers, if any one of your loved ones is frail and peaked or isn't feeling right just ask Mathews Medicine store or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

One sickly, thin child aged 9 gained 12 pounds in seven months and now plays daily with other children.

Splendid for any run down, weak, skinny, nervous man or woman—thousands of boxes are sold daily—but be sure and ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets — the original and genuine. Try them for 30 days and if you aren't delighted with the improvement your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—It was apparent, from the trend of Broadway sentiment today, that Louis Kid Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., would enter the ring on Friday a favorite to retain his featherweight title against Babe Herman, the California challenger, in spite of the fact that many thought Herman won on the occasion of their first meeting some months ago. The bout was held at Waterbury, Conn., and the official ruling was a draw. It was far from a popular decision.

Coach Charges Knapp With Breach of Faith

Asserts Football Committee Head Made Unauthorized Statement of Three-year Contract; University Athletic Heads to Probe Affair.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—A showdown of cold hands was expected to be made today on the Rockne episode when Columbia university's committee on athletics will hold a general meeting for the purpose of instituting a rigid investigation of the facts concerning Columbia's prema, ture, and seemingly unauthorized, announcement that Knute Rockne would coach its football team for the next three years.

It was indicated that the committee would tender Rockne a public apology in the event that it was found that he was justified in declaring he was made a victim of "bad faith" by James R. Knapp, chairman of the football committee.

"Just a young man who considers himself somewhat of a city slicker," was Rockne's parting shot at Knapp as he boarded a train for South Bend, Ind., last night.

It was Rockne's claim that, after signing a three-year agreement with Columbia, contingent upon his getting a release from Notre Dame, he wrote to Knapp to declare the entire deal dead because of his inability to obtain Notre Dame's sanction to the move. Knapp, he said, countered by making a public announcement to the effect that Rockne was coming to Columbia on a three-year contract.

Youth on Committee.

The Columbia committee on athletics is a combination of youth and experience, several of its members having been prominently identified with the 1925 football team.

The latter are George Pease, prominently mentioned for the All American quarterback post, and Ray Wagner, captain and star end. Alfred Mannheim, captain of the basketball team, also is a member of the committee.

That the views of Nicholas Murray Butler, internationally famous president of the university, may be reflected by the committee's action was indicated by the fact that Frank D. Fackenthal, secretary of the university, also is on the committee. The remaining members are Charles Halstead Mapes, prominent in intercollegiate athletics; R. L. Von Bernuth, Gale H. Carter, Dr. Edward F. Elliott and Edward Grant, registrar of the university.

Whether Knapp would be called upon to appear before the committee and explain his side of the controversy was not made known. There are rumors, however, that if his action in the Rockne case was not sustained by the committee, he would tender his resignation as chairman of the football committee.

Facts Summed Up.

From the several conflicting statement issued by Rockne and Knapp, the following facts are evident:

That, on December 1, Rockne signed a three-year agreement with Columbia with the understanding that it was only valid in the event that he could get his release from Notre Dame; that either he failed in this objective and so notified Knapp, or he had not yet broached the matter at Notre Dame when Knapp made premature announcement of the contract; that following a lengthy meeting at Knapp's office on Saturday, at which harsh words were uttered, Rockne and Knapp issued separate statements, the latter releasing the coach from his Columbia contract and Rockne reviewing the entire situation and charging Knapp with bad faith.

Knapp, on the other hand, charged that Rockne represented himself as not being under contract with Notre Dame when he signed the Columbia agreement. Rockne's reply was to ask why it was necessary to obtain a release from Notre Dame if no contract existed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. — Knute Rockne, storm center of the controversy with James R. Knapp, chairman of Columbia university's football committee, will sail for abroad on January 6 for his first vacation in ten years, it was revealed today. The scrap was close all the way, the M. P. outfit having an edge in the first half and losing it in the second. Inaccuracy and lack of teamwork handicapped the Christians.

With Reese in the lineup in the concluding half, the Christians showed a decided form reversal but the lead piled up by the opposition was too much to overcome.

LISBON QUINT HERE TONIGHT

Clash With Power Five on I. O. O. F. Court

After winning seven consecutive games this season, the Power basketball five will battle something a little stronger than the opposition they have encountered thus far when they take on the Lisbon Dodge Motors tonight at the Odd Fellows.

The contest is the first independent engagement of the year for local cage fans and, as a result, a capacity house is expected.

On Wednesday night Manager Geren will take his Power five to Columbiana where they will assist the Miller Brothers in their lid-lifting ceremonies.

In a preliminary to the main go tonight at the Odd Fellows, the fair sex will claim the spotlight, the Lisbon High Selects being billed to play against the East Liverpool Selects. The local lineup includes Misses Grace McConnell, Clarice Imbrie, Helen Imbrie, Hannah Corns and Nellie Gilliland.

The lineup for the wind-up clash will be:

SLIM BROMBY MOUNT VET

Reports for Practice With Bob Wright's Quint.

Over at Alliance, Coach Bob Wright is rounding his Mount Union basketeers, Ohio conference champions, into shape for their opening game of the present season Tuesday, Dec. 22, with Slippery Rock Normal at Alliance. He has four of last winter's letter men on the squad, Captain Bo Laber, ex-Captain Lefty Miller, Red Bromby of East Liverpool and George Wilcoxon. These men were members of the team which went through last season's schedule and didn't lose a game, and Miller and Laber were members of the team the year before which went through the season and lost only the final game to Oberlin.

Besides these four, Wright has several of last year's subs in Burkle, guard; Mills, forward; Orr, forward, and Ball, guard. Harvey, who played a stellar game at end on this year's football team, may find a berth and another good prospect is Johnny Roth, who was quite a flash when he played on the Alliance high quintet several years ago. Wright has cut the original squad of 30 down to 14 men and some of these will be dropped as the season progresses.

After the opening game with Slippery Rock, Mount Union tackles Ashland on the Purple floor in a non-conference clash on January 8. This is followed by a practice game with Firestone Tires at the Rubber City. Then comes the first conference game, Wooster at Wooster on January 16. Three days later the Methodists meet Hiram on the Hiram floor and on January 22 Baldwin-Wallace comes to Alliance.

Signor Rocco Tozze is the new lightweight champion of the world (as far as the New York state boxing commission is concerned).

Which means that after 14 years of grueling warfare Mr. Tozze has possession of a boxing title that doesn't mean as much as two whoops in an empty ice house.

The man who wore one of those old-time 10-cent badges labeled "Chicken Inspector" and which used to make all the folks giggle just terribly, got about the same sense of importance and glory as Signor Tozze does from his crown.

Signor Tozze is better known as Tocky Kansas, who has just ascended the lightweight throne of New York by licking Jimmy Goodrich, winner of the tourney held to name a successor to Benny Leonard.

We now have Mr. Kansas trying to look kingly on the throne of a man who has licked him three distinct and widely separated times.

Kansas, however, deserves the recognition he may draw. He has given boxing the best years of his youth and life. Had his head been as willing as his hands he might have been the bona fide featherweight or lightweight king long before this. He early showed cleverness as a boxer. He appeared to be destined to round into one of the game's great hitters. He had powerful shoulders, heavy forearms—like Dempsey's—and a pair of good hands. However, in over 150 bouts listed under his name to date he has knocked out less than 30 opponents.

He seemed unable to master the intricacies, the real science of hitting such as Kilbane, Leonard, Dempsey—men of three distinctly different types—mastered them. In other words, he is the same plugging, willing fighter today he was a couple of years after his career began.

Not wishing to belittle Kansas' victory, it must be said that the attempt of the eastern critics to carry through Jimmy Goodrich's claim to Leonard's title was little short of ludicrous. There were half a dozen leading contenders for Benny's crown who were not included in the tourney.

ZILL COMPLETES BOXING PROGRAM

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 14.—The complete card for the boxing show to be put on by Al Zill at the Rayen-Wood auditorium Dec. 18, was announced today. The card calls for 32-rounds of milling as follows:

SCHAEFER HIRES HOPPE A COACH

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—According to reports in circulation today, Jake Schaefer will prepare for his return to 18 2 balkline billiard match with Edouard Horemans, beginning January 4, by placing himself under the directions of Willie Hoppe, former champion. The latter was expected here early next week but would return to Chicago directly after Christmas, it was said, to work out with Schaefer for the latter's attempt to regain his championship title.

Horemans deprived Schaefer of this honor several weeks ago by a score of 1,500 to 1,495.

Bout With Stribling Huffman's Goal Now

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—It developed today that Young Stribling, sensational Georgia lightweight, has agreed to meet Eddie Huffman, the California contender, in Madison Square Garden next month, in the event that Huffman disposes of Ad Sone in Newark on Wednesday night. Stribling and Huffman met in a ten-round bout at Los Angeles some time ago and Stribling got the decision, although the Californian rallied strongly in the closing round.

Grange, Thorpe to be Foes in Florida Game

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 14.—A chance to compare Red Grange and Jim Torpe will be provided here New Year's day when the Chicago Bears clash with the Tampa Cardinals. Thorpe is a member of the Cardinals, along with Bill Gardner, Joe Guyon and Pete Calac, other noted Indians. Although Thorpe has long since passed the peak of his prowess, many believe he will give Grange a great run for honors.

Where You Pay Less

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E BROWN

Signor Rocco Tozze is the new lightweight champion of the world (as far as the New York state boxing commission is concerned).

Which means that after 14 years of grueling warfare Mr. Tozze has possession of a boxing title that doesn't mean as much as two whoops in an empty ice house.

The man who wore one of those old-time 10-cent badges labeled "Chicken Inspector" and which used to make all the folks giggle just terribly, got about the same sense of importance and glory as Signor Tozze does from his crown.

Signor Tozze is better known as Tocky Kansas, who has just ascended the lightweight throne of New York by licking Jimmy Goodrich, winner of the tourney held to name a successor to Benny Leonard.

We now have Mr. Kansas trying to look kingly on the throne of a man who has licked him three distinct and widely separated times.

Kansas, however, deserves the recognition he may draw. He has given boxing the best years of his youth and life. Had his head been as willing as his hands he might have been the bona fide featherweight or lightweight king long before this. He early showed cleverness as a boxer. He appeared to be destined to round into one of the game's great hitters. He had powerful shoulders, heavy forearms—like Dempsey's—and a pair of good hands. However, in over 150 bouts listed under his name to date he has knocked out less than 30 opponents.

He seemed unable to master the intricacies, the real science of hitting such as Kilbane, Leonard, Dempsey—men of three distinctly different types—mastered them. In other words, he is the same plugging, willing fighter today he was a couple of years after his career began.

Not wishing to belittle Kansas' victory, it must be said that the attempt of the eastern critics to carry through Jimmy Goodrich's claim to Leonard's title was little short of ludicrous. There were half a dozen leading contenders for Benny's crown who were not included in the tourney.

SCHAEFER HIRES HOPPE A COACH

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—According to reports in circulation today, Jake Schaefer will prepare for his return to 18 2 balkline billiard match with Edouard Horemans, beginning January 4, by placing himself under the directions of Willie Hoppe, former champion. The latter was expected here early next week but would return to Chicago directly after Christmas, it was said, to work out with Schaefer for the latter's attempt to regain his championship title.

Horemans deprived Schaefer of this honor several weeks ago by a score of 1,500 to 1,495.

Bout With Stribling Huffman's Goal Now

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—It developed today that Young Stribling, sensational Georgia lightweight, has agreed to meet Eddie Huffman, the California contender, in Madison Square Garden next month, in the event that Huffman disposes of Ad Sone in Newark on Wednesday night. Stribling and Huffman met in a ten-round bout at Los Angeles some time ago and Stribling got the decision, although the Californian rallied strongly in the closing round.

Grange, Thorpe to be Foes in Florida Game

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 14.—A chance to compare Red Grange and Jim Torpe will be provided here New Year's day when the Chicago Bears clash with the Tampa Cardinals. Thorpe is a member of the Cardinals, along with Bill Gardner, Joe Guyon and Pete Calac, other noted Indians. Although Thorpe has long since passed the peak of his prowess, many believe he will give Grange a great run for honors.

no appeal to the courts in matters of this kind and that when it comes to a showdown the head of the department should have the final determination.

"The department believes in developing the regulatory phase of grazing administration more completely along the lines of local self-government by the live stock permittees directly concerned," says the secretary. "To that end, a system of local boards, functioning for the national forests or the state, is believed desirable. Ordinary matters of local grazing management and range administration may thus be settled by the stockmen themselves in cooperation with local officers of the forest service.

"The numerous questions involved in the local adjustment of grazing are not susceptible of judicial determination. They should be dealt with on the ground in a cooperative spirit by practical range users and experienced grange officers of the forest service. And in order that the responsibility for the administration of the national forests and the conservation of their varied resources may not be divided, or antagonistic policies put into effect in different sections, it is believed imperative that a final determination on appeal or otherwise of all questions of a distinctly administrative nature, should rest with the head of the department.

"At the same time every user of the national forests should have ready access to the courts for the determination of his rights under the law or of disputes arising in his contractural relations with the government."

There are between ninety and one hundred million acres of grazing lands in the national forests.

Ancient Coffin Found

no appeal to the courts in matters of this kind and that when it comes to a showdown the head of the department should have the final determination.

"The department believes in developing the regulatory phase of grazing administration more completely along the lines of local self-government by the live stock permittees directly concerned," says the secretary. "To that end, a system of local boards, functioning for the national forests or the state, is believed desirable. Ordinary matters of local grazing management and range administration may thus be settled by the stockmen themselves in cooperation with local officers of the forest service.

"The numerous questions involved in the local adjustment of grazing are not susceptible of judicial determination. They should be dealt with on the ground in a cooperative spirit by practical range users and experienced grange officers of the forest service. And in order that the responsibility for the administration of the national forests and the conservation of their varied resources may not be divided, or antagonistic policies put into effect in different sections, it is believed imperative that a final determination on appeal or otherwise of all questions of a distinctly administrative nature, should rest with the head of the department.

"At the same time every user of the national forests should have ready access to the courts for the determination of his rights under the law or of disputes arising in his contractural relations with the government."

There are between ninety and one hundred million acres of grazing lands in the national forests.
